"POP GEERS," past seventy, died as he had worked, driving a race horse. He leaves a million dollars, never drank, smoked, cursed or bet on the races.

James Hoey, good actor, brother of "Old Hoss" Hoey, was buried yesterday at Sayville, N. Y.

When Hoey first went to Sayville, he brought a stable of race horses, bought a fine house, raced his horses, enjoyed himself.

WHEN HOEY died in his old age he held a job as "caddy" at the local golf club.

Moral: "It's safer to drive race horses than to bet on them. Driving horses may make a millionaire of you, as it did of Geers. Betting on them is apt to make a caddy of you as it did of the late James Hoey."

MARK SULLIVAN, who observes accurately, says that both Democrats and Republicans are amazed at La Follette's hold on the West. The Democrats it seems "bemoan their lack of publicity, but believe that the papers opposing them will be compelled to print Davis' speeches."

That's too optimistic. One man can take a political speech to an editor, but a hundred can't make him print it. The editors will print speeches, however, if the speechmakers will say something. Not much has been said by anybody thus far.

SENATOR WHEELER, Vice-Presidential candidate with La Follette, at least stirs things up. But respectability holds its breath and whispers "Bolshevism." He actually tells workmen in the mills of New England that "they could run the government if they would stick together, imitate the farmers of the West, and elect the type of Congressmen they want." What do you think of that, for out-Trotskying Trotzky?

MALCOLM McADOO, brother of William Gibbs McAdoo, has left the Democratic party and comes out for La Follette.

In North Dakota, Democrats and Repblicans have combined in a "non-partisan" ticket to beat La Follette. La Follette probably will beat them, as "Golden Rule" Jones beat a similar combination in Ohio years ago. That kind of "non-partisanship" doesn't please voters.

LEOPOLD, ONE of the young Chicago murderers, prepares ten questions and will endeavor to send us answers after he is hanged—if he is hanged. His tenth question is "what is happiness?" According to Biblical teaching he won't be able to answer that question. "Where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched."

IF THE young murderer sends any message, some would like an answer to this question:

"Are the hideously imperfect personalities of murderers and such human refuse preserved forever more or less in the shape they had here? Or does merciful Providence wipe them out of existence? Is crime a defect of body and brain, or has it nothing to do with the spirit, released at death?"

It is hard to believe that all the murderers, tyrants, cannibals, etc., are indestructible and preserved forever. That would seem a waste of immortality.

MRS. M. E. HARRISON, back from Turkey, says the Turks are earth's champion bootleggers, having practiced the art since Mohammed ordered prohibition. Also she says that what the much advertised sheiks chiefly need is soap. In this country what they need is brains.

THE LADY saw a Turkish soldier firing his pistol wildly in the air celebrating "the proclamation of a republic." Privately he asked, "what is a republic?" Some near home might ask that.

IF KEMAL PASHA should die now the Turkish Republic

MOTHER SAVES CHILD BY DIVE INTO RIVER

Springfield, Vt., Sept. 5.—Mrs. Paul Betski of Mineral street saved her 4-year-old son, Joseph, from drowning in the Black River, when she plunged into the stream, which is more than 10 feet deep, with her clothes on, and dragged the little lad to shore.

The child was unconscious, and his mother was unnerved when she reached the bank.

Firemen revived the child with a pulmotor. The infant was playing on the river bank and slipped into the water. The mother was made aware of the accident by frantic cries for help from playmates of her son.

Glenna Collett Loses Golf Match to Mary Browne

Nayatt, R. I., Sept. 5.—Miss Mary K. Browne, Pacific coast tennis star, who is playing national golf for the first time, furnished a great surprise today by defeating Miss Glenna Collett of Providence, former champion and favorite to repeat. The match went to the 19th hole.

PEACEMAKER IS SHOT TO DEATH IN FITCHBURG

Fitchburg, Sept. 5.—Antonio Anzalone, fifty-three years old, a laborer, pleaded not guilty today to a charge of murdering Rocco Petito, forty-five years old, late last night at the Anzalone home. Anzalone was held without bail for a hearing September 15.

Anzalone, who was a lifelong friend of the murdered man, declares that Petito endeavored to effect a reconciliation between the defendant's daughter and her husband, who worked with Petito.

Anzalone told Petito to mind his own business, according to the story told the police today. Petito called at the Anzalone home near midnight and demanded admittance. Anzalone says that Petito threatened to kill him and that, when he opened the door for Petito to enter Petito put his hand in his rear pocket as if to draw a gun.

Anzalone, according to his story to the police, then shot Petito through the heart.

SUSPECT CAUGHT IN WILD DASH

Apartment House Tenants Join in Chase Through Allston Streets

Allston apartment house dwellers, aroused by shots from a policeman's revolver, joined in a wild chase through streets in the vicinity of Summit and Commonwealth avenues that finally netted the capture of Arthur S. Bampton of Warren street, Roxbury, as a burglar suspect.

Bampton was arrested by Special Officer Willard of the Brighton station as the fugitive was wriggling beneath an automobile in a community garage near Summit avenue.

Because of numerous apartment robberies in the Allston section in the past few weeks, Special Officers Brown and Willard have been treading softly in that district with their eyes opened.

Bampton's actions as he came through Summit avenue aroused suspicion of the officers and Brown beckoned to him. Instead of coming, Bampton ran. Special Officer Willard, fleeter of foot than his brother officer, kept close to the pursued, diving through alleys, and scaling back fences. He fired several shots, which brought volunteer pursuers pouring out of the apartment blocks.

As Willard rounded a corner he saw Bampton dart into a community garage. With revolver still in hand, the officer followed and hauled the fugitive from beneath an automobile at the point of the gun.

At the Brighton station, Bampton, according to the police, admitted he is a drug user, but denied being responsible for the apartment robberies.

HEARINGS ON GRADE A MILK SET FOR SEPT. 16

The State Department of Health announced that September 16 it will hold a public hearing in the State House on the observance of the law providing for maintaining certain standards in grade A milk.

It was announced that the department will shortly open its series of health clinics for the instruction of school children on the prevention of tuberculosis.

HUB POLICE WAIT FOR 'SHEIK'

Abductor's Voyage to Egypt With Clergyman's Daughter to Be Cut Short

Bound for Egypt and the fabled land of sheiks, Seraphim V. Detos and the youthful daughter of a Jamestown (N. Y.) clergyman he has kidnaped, are on their way first to Boston, the local police were informed by telegram from New York today.

But the Sheik with the angelic name will never do his stuff in romantic Egypt.

Tonight when the tramp steamship Byron docks at Commonwealth Pier, several husky Athens street station policemen will receive the couple formally, in company with Christina Pappas' clergyman father, Crist Pappas of Jamestown.

A warrant charging abduction will be served on Seraphim and then he will be turned over to the New York authorities for the journey back to Jamestown which, according to Rand-McNally, is nowhere near Egypt.

BOTH SIDES CLAIMING VICTORY IN MAINE

Augusta, Me., Sept. 5 (I.N.S.)—Statements directly contradictory and each predicting victory were issued here today by the chairmen of the Republican and Democratic State committees.

George L. Emery of Biddeford, Republican chairman, declared Maine will elect Bert M. Fernald to the United States Senate with a plurality of 60,000. While insisting Ralph O. Brewster of Portland would be elected Governor, he conceded a smaller plurality.

Dan W. Cony of Augusta, Democratic chairman, issued a statement predicting victory for R. R. Pattangall, with a 25,000 plurality. He declared the Ku Klux Klan had become the issue of Monday's election and that "thousands of Republicans will vote the Democratic ticket as a protest to the hooded order."

Thousands in Rush to Greet World Flight Heroes

Ready to roar a welcome to America's earth-girdling aviators, crowds began arriving at the airport in East Boston at an early hour today.

Arriving in limousines, on street cars and afoot, Back Bay aristocrats and immigrants fresh from the steerage, rubbed elbows as they crowded into the space reserved for spectators.

The field was damp and muddy. Autos and taxicabs went in over the hubs in some instances. Those afoot experienced inconvenience, but their enthusiasm was undampened.

All approaches to the field looked like midways on a fair ground. Inside the field the appearance was that of a military camp.

Bulletins from Pictou, N. S., were read aloud and eagerly received by the enthusiasts.

Some anxiety was expressed when it was learned that a thunder storm was brewing between Pictou and Boston, but the crowd was told the fliers had taken all the necessary precautions and undoubtedly would arrive this afternoon.

WITH EYES TO NORTH

Although they knew the airmen would not be in for hours, the people stood with their eyes fixed on the sky to the north, out of which the triumphant Magellans of the air must come, as if they expected them to materialize miraculously out of the clouds and furnish a fitting climax to their epoch-making flight.

Hours before the time of the expected arrival, General Mason A. Patrick, chief of the air service, Assistant Secretary of War Dwight W. Davis and others prepared to hop off in army planes to greet the returning heroes.

The Boston fliers were to circle over the city warning its citizens that their country's victorious aviators were returning, and then head north to greet the army fliers near Old Orchard, Me.

At Old Orchard the machine carrying General Patrick was to dip in tribute to the 'round-the-world fliers and then the twelve planes from East Boston were to get in escort formation in advance of Lieutenant Smith and his associates.

On the trip down the coast the

BACK BAY FOLK FIGHT AGAINST TERMINAL

Residents of Audubon road, led by Joseph P. Lomasney, vigorously opposed the proposed $7,000,000 real estate development on the 1,500,000 square feet of vacant land fronting Brookline avenue and Audubon road, at a public hearing before the Municipal Board of Zoning Adjustment in City Hall.

The protest was taken under advisement and answer will be made to the objectors within 10 days.

WOULD CUT VALUES.

Mr. Lomasney and a dozen or more property holders of the neighborhood insisted upon knowing the exact character of the proposed development. They told the zoning board that value of their properties must not be reduced by introduction of "smoke, noise or other nuisance."

During the protest of Mr. Lomasney he threatened to "go higher" if the board did not consider his protest carefully. He said he would take the matter up with Mayor Curley just as he had twice successfully done before when business and commerce threatened to invade Audubon road.

The Park Square Real Estate Trust owns the land and is ready to lease it through the Lockwood, Green Company, it was brought out. William J. McDonald for the trust company said that residents of Audubon road ought to welcome the development and the agent of the Lockwood, Green Company as

SPEED UP ON TRIP TO BOSTON

Hop Off From Pictou at 10:35 and Wing Their Way Southward

Pictou, N. S., Sept. 5.—At 12:05 o'clock Eastern Standard time today the planes of the United States army world fliers passed over Albert, N. B., flying at a fast rate of speed towards the southeast. They were quite high and abreast of one another.

Pictou, N. S., Sept. 5 (A.P.)—The American army round-the-world fliers set out from Pictou for Boston today at 10:35 o'clock this forenoon on the last lap over foreign territory and the final jump overseas of their long and arduous globe-encircling trip.

They are expected to reach Boston and set foot on United States soil again around 6 o'clock, daylight saving time.

The three planes got under way after a nineteen-minute delay, caused by motor trouble which developed on the heavily-laden plane Boston-II.

This machine, which had been sent to Pictou to permit Lieutenant Leigh Wade and H. H. Ogden to complete their world flight, interrupted by the wreck of their first plane off the Faroe Islands, was forced down three minutes after taking the air with the machines of Flight Commander Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant Eric H. Nelson at 10:16 o'clock.

MacDONALD AND HERRIOT IN PEACE APPEAL

Geneva Sept. 5 (A.P.)—Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and Premier Herriot, of France, today addressing the International Association of Journalists accredited to the League of Nations, appealed to the world press to help in the movement to establish peace on a firm foundation, declaring nothing could be accomplished without the press which was the bridge to public opinion. Both premiers indicated in their addresses that they intended steadfastly to continue their efforts to elaborate a practice arbitration project.

HERRIOT GIVES FRANCE'S WORLD PEACE PLEDGE

Geneva, Sept. 5 (A.P.)—France today pledged her adhesion to the principle of arbitration and through the lips of Premier Herriot gave to the world a message generally acclaimed here as replete with hope for world peace.

In an address to the assembly of the League of Nations which was frequently interrupted with long hand-clapping by the delegates and the public, M. Herriot declared that France would follow in letter and spirit the solemn document known as the covenant of the League of Nations.

If She Says 'I Could Die Jazzing,' She's 'Off'

Washington, Sept. 5.—"Jazz mania"—irresponsibility and craving for stimulation and excitement noticeable in many otherwise estimable persons these days—is a real mental disorder of gravity, Dr. D. Percy Hickling, alienist, said today.

He is on the staff of the government Hospital for the Insane.

Sufferers from this disease—who actually do not suffer, but often cause others to do so—are fit patients for the psychiatrist, but seldom submit to treatment. Science recognizes the condition as a form of mental derangement and dignifies it with the name of "hypomania," Dr. Hickling said.

Hypomania occurs most frequently among women, although men are not immune.

The hypomaniac must have excitement, especially such stimulation as is experienced in jazz dancing.

LABOR WARNED OF WALL STREET BY WHEELER

Hartford, Ct., Sept. 5 (I.N.S.).—"A vote for President Coolidge and John W. Davis is a vote against organized labor," Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Vice-Presidential candidate on the LaFollette ticket, told the State convention of the Amrican Federation of Labor here today.

"President Coolidge and Davis, though running in different party tickets, were in the same interest—financiers of Wall street—and a vote for either of them means that Wall street wins and you lose," said Wheeler.

"Every intelligent person in Washington knows that Wall street controlled the Republican and Democrat conventions," he added. "And every one knows that Coolidge and Davis take their orders from the predatory interests of this country."

On the other hand, Wheeler declared that Senator Robert La Follette was "one of the leaders of the organized labor movement in America and has always stood for the same things that labor advocates."

William J. Burns, formerly chief of the Bureau of Investigation in the Department of Justice, "spent most of his time while he was in office trying to break up organized labor," said Wheeler.

Mrs. Wheeler spoke at a luncheon of women, urging "American women to help the independent candidates oust corruption from our government."

Senator Wheeler Makes Butler Target for Attack

Willimantic, Ct., Sept. 5.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, candidate for Vice-President on the La Follette independent ticket, invaded Connecticut today, winding up his New England speaking campaign with five speeches.

An attack upon the Republican administration for the oil, Department of Justice and Veteran's Bureau scandals and an arraignment of both the Republican and Democratic parties for being "controlled by Wall street" featured the message which Wheeler brought to Connecticut.

He assailed the Ku Klux Klan, declaring "there is no justification whatever for this organization in the United States" and again challenged President Coolidge "to take a stand on the Klan issue."

In his speech to a large audience in Providence, from where he began his trip by motor this morning, Wheeler made William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican National Committee, the special target of an attack.

"Butler says the people of the country aren't interested in scandals which the Senate uncovered under the Harding-Coolidge administration," declared Wheeler.

"If the people aren't interested, if this government scandal isn't one of the big issues of the campaign, then the American people will vote for President Coolidge, and the administration which robbed them of millions of dollars."

Wheeler declared he and Senator Robert M. LaFollette were "not against honest business but we are out to drive crooked business men and crooked politicians from the government."

He was opposed, Wheeler said, to House of Morgan in this country," any form of dictatorship "such as the Proletariat in Russia, or the

RADIO MOVIE PHOTOS SEEN BY GREEN

Moving pictures dispatched by radio were predicted as the next achievement in the science of wireless transmission by W. H. Marshall, secretary of Colonel E. H. R. Green, son of Hetty Green, multimillionaire and the world's foremost amateur radio fan.

Green has been conducting experiments 18 months in his laboratories near South Dartmouth. The tests were witnessed by President Samuel W. Stratton, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. A picture was transmitted sixty feet. Stratton detailed two experts from the institute to assist in perfecting the invention.

Marshall said Colonel Green is confident he will perfect sets suitable for general broadcasting.

The apparatus, Marshall said, is similar to the device used in transmitting still pictures through the air. Green got the idea of transmitting motion pctures by radio a year and a half ago and built an especial laboratory for the experiments at a cost of more than $300,000.

Other adjacent property owners who appeared in opposition were Dr. C. P. Sylvester, J. P. Bradley, C. M. Stacey, Francis R. Hines for Edward A. McLaughlin, John B. Piscopo, John C. Danforth for two apartment house owners, Samuel A. Fuller for similar clients and Paul Dietch for his wife.

The question at issue is whether the board shall extend the present manufacturing and storage zoning line for this section 130 feet nearer to Audubon road than it is now, so as to include the plot of land now in question. Chairman Fay of the board announced that the board will hold informal discussions on the matter, will consult the Mayor and will make its decision within 10 days.

BAKER ASSERTS HE PICKED GEN. PERSHING

Indianapolis, Sept. 5.—General Pershing's military record and fidelity to orders from Washington while in command of the Mexican punitive expedition were the outstanding factors in his selection as commander of the American Expeditionary forces in France, declared a letter from Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, which the American Legion Weekly prints today.

Mr. Baker's letter says:

"When it was determined in 1917 to send an expeditionary force to France, I remarked to General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff, that it would be necessary to send a commander who would ultimately become commander-in-chief of a very large force, and asked him to have sent to my house the records of all the general officers and senior colonels of the regular army.

"These records I studied for some days and finally, purely on the basis of the records, selected General Pershing, whom I had never seen.

"The punitive expedition in Mexico had a most difficult and responsible task, and its leader was required to exercise tact, self-restraint and consideration for the rights of the Mexican people in a very high degree.

"Further, the (Mexican) expeditionary force under General Pershing was the largest body of troops in active service which any American general (then on the active list) had commanded.

"After I had made my selection I submitted it to the criticism of General Scott, who approved it. I then carried it to President Wilson, discussed it with him briefly, told him how I had arrived at it, and it met with his approval. I at once telegraphed General Pershing in code to report to me at Washington, which he did."

PIGGLY WIGGLY HEAD CLAIMS REPORT ERRS

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 4.—In a joint bill of exceptions filed in the United States District Court, Clarence Saunders, former president of the Piggly Wiggly corporation, and Charles W. Thompson, trustee in bankruptcy of Saunders' estate, attacked the report of C. L. Marsilliott, Federal Master in Chancery, in Saunders' receivership suit against the corporation, as prejudicial to his interest and the interest of his creditors and unwarranted either by fact or law.

The bill asserts that the master omitted from his report to the district judge, many statements of fact developed at hearings on Saunders' petition and that he erred in his interpretation of the corporation's charter and in certain conclusions of law. A general exception to his findings and recommendations also was made.

BISHOP OF HARTFORD LAUDS DEFENCE DAY

Hartford, Ct., Sept. 5.—In a letter to be read in the Roman Catholic Churches of the diocese on Sunday Right Rev. John J. Nilan, bishop of Hartford, urges co-operation of the Catholic people of the state for the observance of National Defense Day, saying:

TEACHERS' STRIKE IN MEXICO SHUTS SCHOOLS

Nogales, Sonora Mexico, Sept. 5.—Public schools throughout the State of Sonora are closed as the result of a general strike proclaimed by school teachers. The strike went into effect when the State failed to meet demands of the teachers for salaries due amounting to approximately 100,000 pesos. Many of the teachers have received no salaries for the last year's work.

CHADWICK TO LEAD WAR ON WHITE PLAGUE

State Health Department Outlines Campaign of Schools

The State health department announced that Dr. Henry Chadwick, superintendent of the Westfield Sanitorium, will have general charge of the new drive in Massachusetts schools to prevent tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis clinics will be held in all parts of the State upon requests made to the department through local school committies and superintendents. The service will be in cooperation with local Boards of Health.

This is a part of the annual campaign against tuberculosis waged during recent years by the State Department of Heath.

At present the work will be limited to the children underweight and undernourished.

On Tuesday, September 16, the State Department of Health, will have a hearing upon the observance of the law for the protection of Grade A milk.

According to a circular issued by the Department, "Massachsetts has been comparatively fortunate so far this year, with only 12 cases and two deaths from smallpox."

AUTOIST HAS DOUBLE ACCIDENT IN WALTHAM

Robert Taylor of Connecticut passed through here, en route to Maine, for a vacation. While here he had a very interesting half-hour.

First his machine struck a dog at Main and Lexington streets. He took the injured dog and its owner to a veterinarian. He reported the accident and then resumed his trip. Just as he reached the corner where he hit the dog his machine was run into by another auto and considerably damaged.

SILVERMAN TESTIFIES WIFE DESPISED HIS GRAY HAIRS

DECLARES HE REFUSED TO DYE THEM

Gray hair and a desire for lunches valued at more than fifty cents was assigned as the cause of the family troubles between Lester Silverman, a Boston furrier, and his wife, Annie E. Silverman, who is suing for divorce from her husband. She alleges that the furrier was cruel and abusive.

Lester Silverman, defendant in his wife's suit, testifying in the Suffolk Superior Court before Judge McCool declared that his wife upbraided him for refusing to dye his gray hair and that her desire for meals valued at more than 50 cents were the principal causes for her desire for a divorce.

The hearing will be resumed today.

"When I finally asked her if she intended to put the final shame of divorce upon our children," said Silverman, "she said: 'To hell with you and the children! The doctor told me that in another year you would be a cripple. You will have to support the children, anyway, and what do I want of an old fool like you? I'm going to get a divorce. No more 50-cent lunches for me. I am going to live!'"

Questioned about dishes that had been broken Silverman said he had swept the dishes off the table into the sink nearby when his wife had attempted to throw them at him. He never hurled a dish at her, he said.

HUNDREDS OF QUARRELS.

Cross-examined by the counsel for Mrs. Silverman, Samuel L. Ballen, Silverman admitted he had once been restrained by the court for molesting or annoying his wife.

Silverman and his wife had "hundreds of quarrels," he testified. Most of them, he said, were caused by interference of his mother-in-law, by Mrs. Silverman's going around with a certain woman companion whom he objected to; by a discussion as to the summoning of his brother-in-law into court during his bankruptcy proceedings; and "about the Sharon affair."

The "Sharon affair," had to do with the whereabouts of Mrs. Silverman on a certain night while she was taking a "rest cure" in Sharon. "When I asked her where she had been," testified Silverman, "she told me she had been carried beyond her station to Sharon Heights, and if I didn't believe it, I could go to hell."

SHOWERED WITH GIFTS

Silverman showered gifts upon his wife, according to his testimony, including a sable scarf, Hudson seal coat, nutria coat, caracul coat, $50, to have her teeth fixed, and $50 to have her diamonds reset.

A great part of the session was taken up in the examination of certain records, notes and checks involving transactions between Mrs. Silverman, her husband and brother, in attempt to impeach the testimony of Mrs. Silverman given previously on the stand that her brother had no part in certain bankruptcy proceedings now being brought against her husband.

Many whispered conferences were held between judge and counsel, and several questions put before the court in an undertone; once at the request of Mr. Silverman, then testifying, who said he didn't like to use certain language used by his wife "in open court."

Navy Flier to Test Airplane With Paper Fuselage

Dayton, O., Sept. 5.—Lieutenant John Kniep, head of the navy office at McCook Field, leaves for Washington today to return in an airplane, the fuselage of which is made of a paper composition.

The ship has been turned over to Lieutenant Kniep by navy officials for test flights. Other planes of the same type are being tried out by navy fliers and if satisfactory, it was said, they will be ordered in quantity for naval air stations.

DORCHESTER TO BUY 'GAS' AT 17 CENTS

Dorchester is lining up with Chelsea in the fight for cheaper gasoline.

Bernard P. Casey of No. 27 Newhall street, Dorchester, who is a candidate for representative from his district, has arranged with Mayor Quigley of Chelsea to furnish the people of his community with gas at 17 cents a gallon.

He will announce the location of the distributing station in the course of a day or two.

Broaching the subject of bringing Chelsea gasoline to Dorchester, Mr. Casey wrote in part as follows: "I have watched your war on gasoline profiteers. Realizing that a victory over the oil trust will be a warning to other trusts, I am interested in giving the people of my district the same service.

"If you are agreeable I shall endeavor to make arrangements with a garage or gasoline station here to handle your gasoline."

Mayor Quigley replied: "I am in receipt of your communication and would state that I would be glad to give the people of your district the 17-cent gasoline that the people of Chelsea and vicinity have enjoyed for the past two months. If you will locate a garage I shall be glad to install same immediately."

SALESMAN SAYS HE LOST $79,000 IN JEWELS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 5.—Loss of a leather portfolio containing diamonds and other jewels valued at $79,000, on a Pennsylvania passenger train, between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, was reported to the police and Pennsylvania authorities by Joseph Saunders, a jewelry salesman of New York.

Saunders reported that before retiring on the train at Philadelphia, he placed the portfolio under the pillow in the Pullman car and discovered it missing when the train reached Johnstown. Police in all cities along the route were called upon to aid in the search for the missing jewels, which Saunders declared to police he believed had been stolen.

$4 BRIBE COSTS MAN $20, AND WIFE $5

John Wenkus of No. 153 Webster avenue, Cambridge, was found guilty in East Cambridge District Court today of bribing a police officer.

Wenkus runs a small store in Cambridge. Patrolman Henry Pelletier dropped in, according to his story, as Mrs. Wenkus was selling a package of cigarettes to a twelve-year-old boy. He told the woman he was to summons her into court. He said Wenkus gave him $4. The court fined Wenkus $20 and his wife $5.

SOMERVILLE ASSESSORS ABATE TAX 50 CENTS

Somerville tax payers will save fifty cents on each thousand dollars of their assessment this year.

The Somerville assessors today announced the 1924 tax rate as $28.70 per $1,000, a decrease of fifty cents over last year and a decrease of $2.40 since 1921.

Total valuation of the city for 1924 was announced as 99,311,000, divided into $90,368,900 in real estate and $8,942,100 personal property.

NEWLYWEDS ROBBED ON THEIR HONEYMOON

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Francis Furnis of Ashville, Ohio, were held up and robbed by three bandits early today in the river road as they were returning to their home from their honeymoon at Niagara Falls. Mr. Furnis was beaten when he resisted attempts of the bandits to take a wrist watch and diamond ring from his wife, after they had rifled his own pockets.

OUSTS OFFICIAL WHO DID NOT PUNISH KLAN

Wisconsin Governor Says the Prosecutor Failed to Heed Orders

Madison, Wis., Sept. 5.—Governor Blaine started an open fight on the Ku Klux Klan when he announced an order had been issued suspending George B. Clementson as district attorney of Grant County.

The executive in a letter declared that "the Klan is a potential menace to the peace and security of our citizens," and that "it incites to riots and lawlessness and engenders the possibility of bloodshed, such as has been repeatedly demonstrated at Herrin, Ill., and other places." Referring to the Klan he said "it must not be permitted to get a foothold in Wisconsin."

The letter was written as a result of a hooded demonstration at Boscobel three weeks ago, and of difficulties at Muscoda, also in Grant County, as a result of which one man was shot and wounded.

The Governor charges that Clementson failed to follow his orders regarding prosecution of those claimed to have been involved in the Boscobel demonstration when a deputy sheriff is said to have been assaulted.

Clinton Gowdy Is Dead

Springfield, Sept. 5.—Clinton Gowdy, sixty-three, an attorney, who had held the chair of medical jurisprudence at the Georgia College of Medicine and Surgery for five years ending about 1897, is dead here. He was at one time a candidate for the post of attorney-general.

WORKERS WIN [illegible] RAINCOAT STRIKE

Original Wage Agreement Is Accepted; Employes Go Back Monday

Six hundred waterproof garment workers, on strike in Boston shops, will be back at work Monday, from indications today.

Most of the employers have agreed to the workers' demand that the old working and wage agreement, which expired August 15, be reinstated, it was declared today by Joseph Swartz, chairman of the executive board of Local No. 7, Waterproof Garment Makers' Union.

A mass meeting of the strikers will be held tomorrow afternoon in Paine Memorial Hall at which time those of the strikers whose employers have come to terms will be told when to report for work.

CLOSE CALL FOR MANY THOUSANDS OF VOTERS

The disfranchisement of thousands of voters in the primary election on Tuesday has been narrowly averted through the efforts of Secretary of State Cook.

For a time it was feared that the 2,000,000 ballots needed would not be printed in time for proper distribution. Only by incessant supervision night and day and the crowding in of many hours of overtime work has the job been accomplished.

For many years the printing of the ballots was in the hands of the regular State printers, Wright & Potter. This year, however, the State Commission on administration and finance let the printing contract to the Chapple Publishing Company

LOCATELLI IS BOTH CHEERED AND BOOED

New York Italians Demonstrate in Grand Central Station; Plan Reception Today

New York, Sept. 5.—A welcome more in keeping with his historic attempt at achievement than was accorded Lieutenant Antonio Locatelli, when he was hurried through a side entrance of the Grand Central Terminal into a waiting taxicab by the police, was planned by welcoming committees today.

Elaborate ceremonies for greeting the Italian airman, who was wrecked off Greenland, were to have been held in the station with the Italian consul-general and other dignitaries in attendance.

Public knowledge of the ceremonies attracted a crowd of his compatriots who swarmed about the gates, starting a demonstration which, by the time of his arrival, was expressed in the cries, "Hurrah of Locatelli for Locatelli!" and "Down with Locatelli and the Fascisti!"

Fifteen policemen saw it was impossible to combat the crowd of 5,000 persons, so with the consent of the Consul-General Locatelli was surrounded by police and pushed into a taxicab.

A banquet in his honor at the Ritz-Carlton was guarded by special police and an escort for him during his stay was arranged here.

I. O. O. F. TEMPLE IN HUB WILL COST MILLION

Springfield, Sept. 5.—A project for the erection of a million dollar Odd Fellows temple in Boston, where the first lodge of the order in Massachusetts and the second in the country was instituted 104 years ago, was considered at the 102nd annual convention of the Massachusetts Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., which ended its session here.

The convention voted to submit the proposition to a referendum of the 243 subordinate lodges in the State at their second meeting in February for action.

WILBUR INVESTIGATES OIL RESERVES IN WEST

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 5.—Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur, who arrived here from Seattle, on the Flagship of the United States battle fleet, will make a survey of oil reserves in California and of the Teapot Dome oil reserve in Wyoming before he returns to the East, he said.

He will make a number of addresses in San Francisco and Los Angeles and inspect present and proposed naval bases in California.

ARBITRATION BOARD ACTS IN WATCH STRIKE

The State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration took an active hand in the strike at the Waltham Watch works when a summons was served on officials of the watch company and officers of the Watchmakers' Protective Association to appear before the State Board at the State House on Wednesday, September 10, at 10:30 a. m.

Yacht Club Members to View Movies They Took Part In

By BETTY ALDEN

MEMBERS of the Manchester Yacht Club will "see themselves as others see them" this evening.

The entire club is turning out for the informal showing of moving pictures to be held at the clubhouse tonight.

The pictures showing members of the club "in action" are of water sports and races held there during the season.

After the silver screen exhibition, members of the younger set will remain for the evening. The affair is for club members and their friends.

YOUNG Mr. and Mrs. John Crocker (Mary Hallowell) were greeted from all sides at the Owen-Trafford wedding. The Crockers have but recently returned from England, and this was the first time many of their acquaintances had seen them since their return.

The former Mary Hallowell, a slender, brown-haired girl, is very girlish-looking indeed, to be a mother, her child being born some months ago while the Crockers were still in England, where they went immediately following their marriage two years ago.

A more recently wedded pair, who also came in for their share of jolly greetings were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Cummings, Jr. (Elizabeth Russell), whose wedding, less than three months ago, also at St. Michael's Church, was one of June's most important ceremonials.

At the Owen-Trafford nuptials young Mrs. Cummings wore a tight-bodiced frock of pink and blue flowered taffeta and a wide-brimmed, floppy hat.

AS for the Owen-Trafford wedding itself—what a crowd, and then some, filled tiny St. Michael's Church out Milton way for the occasion!

The ushers had quite a task on their hands—or, rather, their arms—to get all the guests seated.

In fact, so many were the guests that not a few had to remain standing.

The bride wore white satin, the square court train covered by a rich-looking veil of old family lace.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Herbert S. Carter, Jr. (Rachel Trafford), whose own marriage was solemnized in St. Michael's early last June, was matron of honor. She wore orchid chiffon and lace, the chapeau of black, with a bow of maline.

The group of eight bridesmaids and Miss Annette Trafford, the maid of honor, were gowned alike in powder blue chiffon and lace, their hats like the matron of honor's.

When the bridegroom, George Owen, Jr., answered the all-important questions put to him by the Rev. Dexter, his voice was clear and firm, could be heard distinctly all through the church. The much-worshipped hero of the Crimson eleven and his bride were both smiling happily as they walked up the aisle and left the church.

ELIZABETH HAMLEN

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Hamlen will be the only attendant for Miss Theodora Hill of Boston, whose marriage to Herbert Wells Hill takes place tomorrow at the Wianno Summer home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah F. Hill of Beacon street.

WOMAN, 95, IS WANDERER FOR FIVE DAYS

Attleboro, Sept. 5.—Believed to have been wandering out of doors since Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Mary Remirzewski, ninety-five years old, of Warren, R. I., who had come to South Attleboro to visit her son, J. F. Remirzewski, at No. 30 Mendon road, that town, attracted the attention of residents and was taken in charge by the local police. Inquiry brought about her identification.

Because she had left her son's home to return to her own, her absence had not been noted.

Society Notes

MR. AND MRS. BARRETT WENDELL of Chicago will arrive September 12 at Tunipoo Inn, Beverly Farms, to spend the remainder of the month.

Colonel and Mrs. Edward M. House, upon their return from Europe this month, will visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph F. Tucker (Mona House), who are occupying Mrs. Wolcott Howe Johnson's place in Wenham.

Mrs. Slater Welles, just returned from a short visit to New York, gave a dinner the other evening at "Old Farm," Bar Harbor, where she is spending the Summer.

J. Brooks Fenno, Jr., of Boston, with Lucien Williams, defeated Reginald Allen and John P. Duncan in the men's doubles of the tournament at the Lenox Club in Lenox.

Eliot Wadsworth, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, is back in Washington after his stay with Mrs. Wadsworth at their Summer home in Gloucester.

Mrs. Seth Thomas of New York has been joined at the Oceanside, Magnolia, by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Seth Thomas.

Mrs. Charles P. Searles of Boston has arrived in Magnolia at Sea Reaches.

ELOPING WIFE DEPARTS IN HUBBY'S AUTO

Springfield, Sept. 5.—Springfield Girl Scouts were surprised to learn that William Barton, Jr., the jovial caretaker of Camp Bonnie Brae, their Summer camp in Becket, has disappeared with his attractive sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred Pease of Otis, leaving behind Mr. Pease and his own wife and four children.

The husband of the missing woman feels that the pair rubbed it in a bit by using his sedan for their elopement and also taking along, so he has informed the Lee State police patrol, about $150 of his good money. The couple have been traced to Washington, where they abandoned the automobile and purchased railroad tickets for some point in Michigan.

CINCINNATI NEXT SHIP TO HOLD TRIAL

Rockland, Me., Sept. 5.—The superdreadnaught West Virginia left the scene of its successful standardization trials here and sailed for Bermuda for a two-weeks' stay.

The board of inspection and survey has announced that the light cruiser Cincinnati will be the next craft to undergo official trials on the Rockland course, probably early in October.

MISS SPENCER FOR LIBERAL LEGISLATION

Woman Candidate for Congress Would Aid Mothers and Children

Edna Lawrence Spencer, Republican candidate for Congress in the Ninth District and the first woman in New England to run for Congress, addressed Republican rallies in Winchester Town Hall, Tufts square, Medford, and Main and Upham streets, Melrose.

Miss Spencer was the first to enter the field, but later five men entered against her.

"If the women would vote for me and let the other votes be divided among my opponents," said Miss Spencer, "I should easily be elected. My candidacy has centred national attention on the contest in the Ninth District because I am the first woman in New England to run for Congress. The States of the Union are watching to see if Massachusetts will follow the lead of the Progressive Western States which have already elected women to represent them in Congress."

Miss Spencer said she favored national maternity benefit legislation, so drafted as to preserve the absolute freedom of the various States in details of administration; that she stood for child labor legislation and limiting the hours of labor industry, and that she stood four square for the World Court as advocated by President Coolidge, and that she was opposed to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment or alteration of the Volstead act. "I stand," she said, "for prohibition first, last and all the time."

CURLEY TO PRESENT CUP TO BEAUTY WINNER

Mayor Curley will present a handsome silver loving cup to the lucky miss who is to be picked as the most beautiful girl at the annual dance of the Roxbury Rowing Club at Mosley's-on-the-Charles tonight.

John F. Dowd, secretary of the committee for Americanization, is president of the club. The officers are James Hennigan, treasurer; Michael Dempsey, secretary and John P. White, Joseph Tyner, Edward Hudson, Charles W. Foley, John Howard, J. Harold Kenney, William Murray, William Kane, Clarence Germaine and William Madden are on the board of directors. The dance also will be featured by a battle of music.

NEW JERSEY SANCTIONS WINDSHIELD PICTURES

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 5.—New Jersey motorists will not be forced to remove bathing girl posters and other decorations from their windshields, State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Dill indicated today. Commissioner Dill said few drivers are so heedless of their own safety as deliberately to block their own view by extreme use of windshield decorations.

DAWES TO SPEAK ON LA FOLLETTE ATTACKS

Evanston, Ills., Sept. 5.—Charles G. Dawes, Republican candidate for Vice President, devoted himself today to work on the address he will make Thursday night in Milwaukee.

Mr. Dawes will discuss what he considers as attacks on the Constitution by Senator La Follette.

EVERETT PARADE ON DEFENCE DAY

National Defense Day plans are being made by a committee of Everett citizens under the direction of Lieutenant Colonel Lewis D. Sawin, U. R. O. C., and Captain John Anderson of Co. M, 182nd Regiment, M. N. G., of this city. A meeting will be held in the State Armory tonight.

Colonel Sawin announces that the plans provide for a parade on the evening of September 12, to start on Norwood street about 7 o'clock and proceed over Broadway to Glendale Park.

THOUSANDS ON HAND TO GREET AIR FLIERS

Vast Throng Early Begins to Assemble at Airport to Await Fliers

radio plane was to fly in front, the planes carrying Generals Patrick and Brewster and Assistant Secretary of War Davis just behind and the eight other machines in single file.

A few miles from Boston General Patrick and his associates planned to fly in ahead of the world circumaviators and announce their coming.

Long before the time for the hop-off of the fliers from the airport Lieutenant Bartlett Wright, standing in a cockpit in the main hangar, lectured the newspaper and news service photographers as to their procedure.

He warned them to take no chances and announced the arrangements made for satisfactory stills and movies of the fliers.

TO CIRCLE IN REVIEW.

When they get over the city the army aviators will circle about for a few minutes before swooping down into the waters off the landing barge near the airport hangars.

They will taxi in review past the barge on which the official party will be stationed before they moor.

Brought to the barge on a small boat, while the anti-aircraft battery on the field fires a salute of twenty-one guns, they will be given the "Present Arms" by a detachment of infantry.

They will be escorted to airport headquarters to sign the official registry, and then taken across the bay to the army base in General Brewster's boat to "spruce up" before they are motored to the Copley-Plaza.

At the hotel they will be cared for as honored guests of the city. After a short informal reception they will have dinner with General Patrick and General Brewster.

The detachment of planes sent out to escort the fliers in from Old Orchard was to be led by General Patrick and his aide, Lieutenant St. Claire Streett. At the right was to be a plane occupied by Assistant Secretary of War Davis and Lieutenant Lester M. Maitland of Bowling.

At the left, Lieutenant W. C. Moffatt of Selfridge Field; next the radio plane; then a formation of nine photographic machines, led by the official Air Service photo ship, in command of Lieutenant George W. Goddard. The other planes were to be flown by lieutenants from various flying fields.

The first mail ever to be sent from Boston by airmail will leave the flying field after the arrival of the American flyers. A mail plane has been furnished through special order from Postmaster-General Harry S. New and a temporary postal office established on the field. The plane will fly directly to New York connecting with other air mail lines there. Each letter is stamped with a special stamp, "Boston first landing in U. S. of world fliers.

Radio Fans to Get News of World Fliers

The approach of the world fliers to Boston and their reception here will be broadcast by WBZ in Springfield.

As the fliers leave Pictou, battleships along the course of the flight will transmit reports by code to the East Boston airport. These reports will be read off by an announcer into a navy 50-watt transmitter.

A receiver and amplifier at the Hotel Brunswick will start the announcements along the wire to Springfield, where they will be rebroadcast.

When Lieutenant Rash, in one of the welcoming planes, meets the fliers off Old Orchard, Me., he will begin to transmit from his plane the story of the flight to the East Boston airport.

On the arrival at the airport the announcer there will take up the story of the reception to the fliers, arranging the microphones so that the words of the aviators themselves may be heard.

Finally, at 9:15 p. m., each of the fliers will speak a few words before the microphone as they sit at dinner in the Copley-Plaza.

At least some of these broadcasts will be retransmitted by KDKA, Pittsburgh, on 326 meters, and by KFKX, Hastings, Neb., on 270 meters. Those with short wave sets may be able also to pick up KDKA's 70-meter transmission also.

At 8 p. m. G. W. Hamblin, Jr., of Cambridge will go on the air at Amrad WGI. He intends to see everything that happens at the fliers' arrival and shoot it over the air.

The talk will include the fliers' history-making flight around the globe, and a short description of the men themselves. An interesting fifteen minutes is promised to all those who listen in.

[illegible]-GOLD WATCHES TO BE GIVEN ROUND-THE-WORLD FLIERS

Today's Program for Fliers' Reception

THE three planes land in harbor close to the East Boston airport, taxi to mooring buoys and are secured.

World fliers taken in boat to naval lighter, where receiving ceremonies will be conducted.

Twenty-one gun salute fired from airport by Battery A, 9th Regiment, Coast Artillery Corps, as fliers taxi to mooring buoys.

The national anthem played by the 10th Coast Artillery Band from Fort Banks, Winthrop, while Company L, 13th Infantry, under command of First Lieutenant Milton C. Shattuck, drawn up near barge, comes to "present arms."

Introduction by Major-General Mason A. Patrick, chief of the Army Air Service, to official receiving party.

Fliers step ashore to sign the "Visitors' Register of the Boston Airport."

World fliers then board boat of Major-General A. W. Brewster, commanding New England military area, and are taken to Army Base across harbor, where cars take them to their hotel, the Copley-Plaza. A rest period follows for the fliers. Then they dine privately.

OVATION GIVEN MISS BOSTON IN PARADE

Eigthy-Three Contestants Make Formal Bows on Boardwalk

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 5 (I.N.S.)—Eighty-three American beauties made a three mile bow to the public in King Neptune's parade along the boardwalk in a feature of the beauty pageant which will culminate here tomorrow in the crowning of "Miss America" for 1924.

With the beauty judges camouflaged among the thousands lining the way the fair entries took no chances but distributed bows and kisses galore every foot of the route. It was King Neptune's reception but he drew about as much attention as a bridegroom.

The rolling chair procession of loveliness superseded the plan of having Neptune hold court in a royal barge. The rain was blamed for the change of plans, but it was rumored the real cause was that the bathing beauties' bathing suits were not intended for damp weather.

However, today the beauty entries will appear in the Bathers' Revue. It is understood their bathing costumes will not be the same ones to be worn in "the secret judgment chamber" tomorrow when the public will be excluded. Those special outfits are known to be tucked away carefully in envelopes and deposited in hotel safes.

LEGION PARTY OF 100 TO LEAVE NEXT WEEK

Delegates to the national convention of the American Legion at St. Paul the latter part of this month made their final arrangements for the trip at a meeting in the Legion headquarters in the State House. They will leave here next week and will travel through Montreal and the Sault Ste Marie Canal.

There will be a little over 100 in the Massachusetts delegation headed by Commander Leo M. Harlow, and 47 of them will have a vote at the convention.

RADIO CONFERENCE CALLED BY HOOVER

Secretary of Commerce Hoover has announced the calling of the Third National Radio Conference for the better voluntary regulation of radio. The conference will be held at Washington, D. C., beginning September 30.

Two such conferences have already been held, one in February, 1922, and one in March, 1923, both of which were generally attended by the persons and organizations interested.

FLIERS ON WAY

away at 10:35 o'clock on their 520-mile non-stop hop to Boston.

The New Orleans, Lieutenant Nelson's machine, was the first to take the air. It was followed by the Chicago, with Lieutenant Smith on board, while the "Boston II," carrying a greater load than the other two, hopped from the water at 10:16:30 o'clock.

After flying about the harbor, the three machines headed into the wind on a northwesterly course, but as they moved into formation to begin their long flight, Lieutenant Wade's plane faltered, turned and swooped down to the water.

GET INTO AIR AGAIN.

After circling about for a few minutes, the "New Orleans" followed the "Boston II," to the surface, the "Chicago" remaining in the air.

A few minutes later, Lieutenant Nelson's plane was away again and Lieutenant Wade's machine taxied down the harbor and joined the other two, all three turning again toward the northwest.

Before the decision was made to start on the flight this forenoon, it was anticipated that Lieutenant Wade might have difficulty in getting off because of the extra weight of the machine in which he was flying.

Lieutenants Wade and Ogden expected trouble from the first because they had just installed a new propeller and tried it out for the first time this morning.

NELSON FALLS OVERBOARD.

Just before the crew of the "Boston II." got the new propeller to turn over, they were visited by Lieutenants Smith and Nelson, whose machines already were in position. As he was stepping from the navy tender to the pontoon of the "Boston II." Lieutenant Nelson fell into the water up to his waist.

Lieutenant Wade's first start was made after a two-mile run straight down the harbor after he had made two unsuccessful attempts to get into the air.

The fliers' course leads across Northumberland Strait to the Isthmus of Chignecto which connects Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. From this point, they will follow the coastline of New Brunswick and New England to their destination.

Weather reports from various points along coast indicated that flying conditions were fair.

At 10:50 o'clock Eastern Standard time the machines passed River John and at 11:16 o'clock, they passed over the mouth of Pugwash Harbor, about fifty miles from their starting point. They were flying abreast and going very fast.

BOSTON DROPS LOW.

Watchers on the shore off Wallace harbor which the airmen passed before reaching Pugwash harbor, asserted that the "Boston II" dropped very low, followed by the "Chicago" while the "New Orleans" slackened its pace and hovered overhead.

For a time it looked as though the "Boston II" had alighted but a few minutes later, she gained altitude again and the three machines disappeared from view.

At 11:45 o'clock the airmen passed over Amherst, about twenty-five miles beyond Pugwash Harbor. The skies were cloudy following a slight rain.

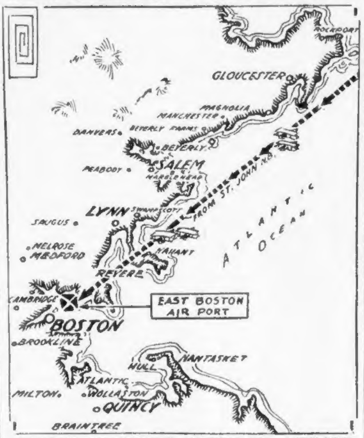
State to Greet Hero Birdmn in Hall of Flags

Elaborate plans for the reception of the around-the-world flyers have been made at the State House for tomorrow noon.

They will be received by Governor Cox in the Hall of Flags where Marechal Foch, Generalissimo Diaz, Clemenceau and other great world war figures were greeted.

Present at the exercises by invitation of the Governor will be State officials, representatives of the army and navy, representatives of foreign countries stationed in Boston, and committees from veteran organizations and patriotic societies.

After a brief welcome address, Governor Cox will call upon representatives of the American Legion, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, and the 26th Division who are to make presentations to the flyers.



COURSE OF WORLD FLIERS TO AIRPORT

How to Reach Airport to See Round-the-World Fliers

All roads will lead to Boston airport when the world fliers arrive. Those wishing to join in the welcome who are unfamiliar with the location of the flying field in East Boston will find the following routes the most direct:

BY TROLLEY

If you go by trolley change at State street for East Boston tunnel. At Maverick station take surface car for Jeffries Point. Get out at McCormick square, walk down Sumner st., turn to left down Jeffries st., two blocks to Maverick st., which leads into the field.

Those going on trolley cars via Park street and from Lechmere station in Cambridge should change for East Boston tunnel at Scollay square.

BY MOTOR

From Boston and points beyond go to City Square, Charlestown, continue through Chelsea street and across both bridges, past the Marine Hospital, turn to right down Williams street before reaching Chelsea square, swing into Meridian street, the second street to right, cross the bridge and continue through Meridian street to Maverick square, along Maverick street to the field.

BY FERRIES

If motorists prefer to use the East Boston ferries instead of going by way of Charlestown and Chelsea they can go down Hanover street and through Battery street to North Ferry. On East Boston side, turn to right down Border street to Maverick street direct to flying field.

For South Ferry go down Eastern avenue. On East Boston side follow Lewis street to Maverick street to the field.

KEARSARGE ASSOCIATION WANTS NAVAL VETERANS

ARREST IN ITALY ON CAMBRIDGE MAN'S TIP

Milan Police Hold Suspect Who Fled After Murder in Pennsylvania

Milan, Italy, Sept. 5. (I.N.S.)—The police today arrested Antonio Apostilico, charged with killing Francesco Matera in Cambridge, Mass., in August, 1923.

Antonio Apostilico, arrested in Milan, Italy, is charged with the murder of Frank Matera of Lewis Town, Pa., August, 1923. He never resided in Cambridge.

Captain Patrick J. Hurley of the Cambridge police today investigated the case regarding a Cambridge connection and discovered that Vincent Paratoro, of No. 68 Portland street, Cambridge, brother-in-law of Matera, the dead man, followed Apostilico to Italy after the murder and told the authorities what Apostilico had done. As a result the latter was arrested.

Paratoro returned to Cambridge and it was in this way that the Milan authorities thought the victim was a Cambridge man.

The shooting resulted, according to Paratoro, when Matera censured Apostilico for paying attentions to Matera's thirteen year old daughter.

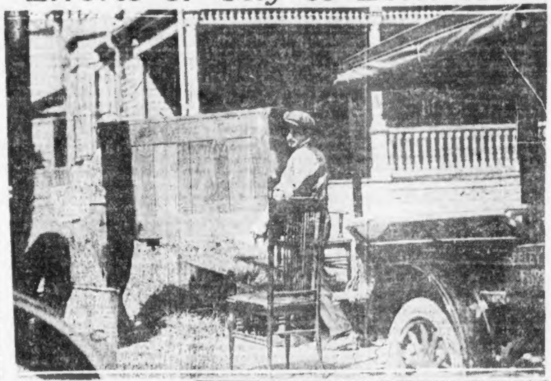
Newton Widow Again Balks Efforts of City to Evict Her



PUTTING HER OUT
A Middlesex County deputy sheriff and three helpers removing the furnishings from Mrs. Byfield's home in Newton.

THE WIDOW SITS PAT
Mrs. Cecilia A. Byfield calmly on her porch at No. 15 Eldredge street, Newton, refusing to budge as sheriffs removed her furniture to evict her after a two-year fight with the city of Newton, which wants the site for a new school.

Temporary Injunction Halts Sheriff After Removal of Furniture from Lower Floor

For the second time within a week Mrs. Cecilia Byfield of No. 15 Eldridge street, Newton, has been successful in balking her eviction by Sheriff Arthur H. MacLearn of Middlesex County, who, with his assistants, has been attempting to remove the furnishings from the home of the aged widow, so that the city of Newton can continue its work on the Underwood school.

When a petition filed by Mrs. Byfield asking that the city of Newton be restrained from evicting her from her home was dismissed, the sheriff and his assistantas went to the Byfield home to remove the household effects of the owner.

Their second attempt was brought to a sudden end after the furnishings had been removed from the first floor, when Attorney Robert Adair appeared on the scene with an injunction from the Middlesex Superior Court.

WIDOW REMAINS.

He obtained an order of notice, returnable September 12, which served as a temporary injunction against eviction.

Mrs. Byfield, her attorney and a woman friend, who also makes her home there, were holding the fort on the second floor, striving to make themselves comfortable while lacking all the first floor furniture, which had been placed in storage by the sheriff.

The next problem facing the city and the sheriff is that of the removal of the widow herself. Calmly sitting by in a rocking-chair, the widow watched the removal of her personal belongings by the sheriff. She did not object. She was calm and peaceful.

When she was asked what she was going to do, she declared vigorously that she was "going to stay right here."

ALL UP SLEEVE.

Attorney Adair declared he would be happy if the authorities used force in evicting the widow, as he declares he has an "ace" up his sleeve for just that occasion.

The city offered the widow $7,700 for her property. She asked $40,000. By right of eminent domain the city seized the property, but she would not leave.

Then started the battle.

It went to the courts and elsewhere. When the sheriff moved the widow's belongings it looked as though the city had won.

But she insists that she will stay whether or not she has any furniture left. Just how the city will get her out is a problem officials will not discuss.

She is standing by her guns and says she will have to be carried out if they want her to go.

TARRY MIXTURE NEW CLEW IN GRAFF MURDER

New York, Sept. 5 (I.N.S.).—A tin can containing a tarry substance used to seal the box in which the body of Aaron Graff was found in a Greenwich Village cellar was being examined by police today as a new clew in the murder of the aged manufacturer.

Chemists were to analyze the fluid today.

STUDENT KILLED WHEN HIS AUTO ROLLS OVER

Pottsdam, N. Y., Sept. 5 (I.N.S.).—His automobile turning over three times when it skidded on the Norwood road today, Harold D. Crossmerry, twenty-one years old, student in Clarkson College here and brother of Professor M. E. Crossmerry of the Clarkson faculty, was instantly killed.

CHASE TO TAKE FIRPO CASE TO COOLIDGE

New York, Sept. 5 (Universal)—Charges of irregular conduct against Luis Angel Firpo, by which Canon William Sheafe Chase seeks to have him deported as an undesirable, will be presented immediately to President Coolidge for executive action, unless Immigration Commissioner Curran speeds up his investigation, Canon Chase announced.

The Canon's latest move follows the statement of Curran to the effect that the United States Government is powerless to deport the "Wild Bull of the Pampas" until after the Firpo-Wills bout, September 11. Curran also delivered a personal attack upon Canon Chase.

Canon Chase earlier in the day had scored Curran for delays in the investigation, and also for refusing to see the Canon and his attorney, Bernard Sandler, when they called at the commissioner's office with cablegrams of endearment exchanged between Firpo and his beautiful Cuban friend, Miss Blanca Lourdes Picart.

Curran said—

"If a warrant for deportation were immediately issued by the Secretary of Labor against Firpo, the fighter would be required to come before me, the sole authority for fixing bail.

"The bail fixed in these cases is rarely higher than $10,000. In any release on bail."

FAMILY SEEKS BROTHER OF DEAD CONTRACTOR

The family and friends of Duncan Will, widely known contractor, who dropped dead at his Milton home, are trying to locate William Will, the dead man's brother, who is believed to be somewhere in the White Mountains on a motor trip. The latter left home last Tuesday and was heard from when he passed through North Adams. At that time it was believed he was en route to Bethlehem, N. H. Chief Travers of the Milton police has been enlisted in the search for the missing man.

MYSTERY GIRL REVEALS HER IDENTITY

Mansfield, Sept. 5.—The girl who came to the Thomas House under mysterious circumstances Sunday, shortly before her baby was born and who refused to give her name and address, has been identified.

Town Manager "Bill" Plattner knows the facts but refused to disclose them for publication.

Beyond the fact that the young mother is a school teacher in another State, that her relatives do not know her whereabouts, but that financial aid and a wedding ring are hers whenever she sends word home, Manager Plattner will tell nothing.

Identifying the girl was a three-day job. All else failing, Manager Plattner announced that the girl and her baby would become a State charge at Tewksbury. There was a protest from a number of persons, who offered aid, and a home for her, but the manager insisted.

So sternly did he cling to this decision that the girl wilted and told him the full story, names and all.

She was transferred from the Thomas House to the home of an interested party here.

The girl, who registered as "Mrs. Lawrence of Nova Scotia," still insists that she came here by train from Framingham and was not brought here in the automobile the police have been tracing.

DECKLOAD LOST IN STORM BY SCHOONER

Craft Arrives in Boston After Perilous Voyage From Georgia

Her deck load of hundreds of barrels of gum resin swept overboard, the five master schooner Edna Hoyt arrived in Boston with her crew of ten men thankful that they had been saved from a hurricane. The craft was badly battered.

The schooner reached Mystic wharf after a 24 day voyage from Brunswick, Ga., where she had started with 10,000 barrels of resin for the Superior Trading & Transport Company of Boston.

Members of the crew declare the vessel would have been piled up on the North Carlina shore had not the wind shifted suddenly and carried her out to the open sea.

After she was once safely out at sea the storm began to abate.

Capt. Miller Griffin put her back on her course and for ten days the vessel was beating her way back to Boston, delayed by head winds and crippled by the damage she suffered in the storm.

Officers of the Superior Trading & Transport Company, owners of the Edna Hoyt, greeted Capt. Griffin and First Mate Smith on their arrival yesterday and commended them on the seamanship that brought the vessel safely to port.

What would happen in Italy if Mussolini died?

A country or a business depending on one man, however able, is always in danger.

JACK DEMPSEY, American prince, crowded the British prince off the front page the other day with the announcement of his engagement to marry a young lady of the film world.

It was a pretty story of childhood friendship when the young lady wore "pigtails," that gave the prince's place to Jack Dempsey.

The denial of the whole thing brings Mr. Dempsey back to the front page. Thus the news goes.

LIEUTENANT MOFFETT flew 183 miles from Boston to New York in fifty-eight minutes, attended to his business, and finished the round trip in two hours and twelve minutes. We have the world's ablest fliers, tens of thousands of them not developed. But we haven't the flying machines. We TALK preparation better than we provide it.

RENTS KEEP UP AS HOUSES INCREASE

Returners From Beach Find Few Apartments Less Than $50

The annual back to the city movement from the country and beaches finds no shortage in houses but a scarcity in rents of less than $50 a month.

"This condition continues to cause much trouble to many citizens who live in property owned or controlled by greedy landlords," said Chairman Eugene C. Hultman of the Commission on the Necessaries of Life today.

In the higher priced apartments, Hultman said, conditions are much improved, rent reductions of from 10 to 25 per cent. being offered for the purpose of attracting tenants.

FUEL COSTS HIGHER.

"Even in the case of renewals," Hultman continued, "many landlords in these higher priced places are allowing the tenant the renting commission which amounts to about one month's rent."

The high price of domestic fuel is also attracting many tenants from the unheated type of dwelling, he said.

Asked how the housing conditions compare this year with conditions a year ago Hultman said:

"The situation this Fall shows a decided improvement over that existing a year ago, which in turn was better than existed the previous year.

"Speculation in property is not as profitable now and many investors are experiencing difficulty in disposing of their present holdings.

"But complaints continue to come in in regard to rent raises in the type of property where the tenant with a modest income lives. Most of these rents are not justifiable and simply represent an attempt to extort additional money from victims of post-war conditions."

According to the United States Census Bureau, he asserted, about 86 per cent. of the people of Boston pay rent. They therefore possess the principal purchasing power and prosperity of the community while on the other hand the expenditures of the comparatively small number of landlords does not affect the general welfare in the same proportion, he said.

RENT LAWS HOLD.

Hultman advised all tenants that they can refuse to accept a rent raise of a landlord and that this refusal does not terminate the tenancy.

He pointed out that the emergency rent laws are still in effect and that the commission is ready at all times to investigate all complaints brought to its attention and to assist in obtaining decent treatment for tenants from landlords.

As an illustration of the type of complaints now being made, he cited the following two as typical:

The doubling of small rents by new landlords on the pretense that extensive alterations are to be made.

The giving of a fictitious property valuation in justification of an exorbitant increase.

Refusal to comply with these demands, he said, usually results in an eviction notice.

MARINE SEEKS $10,350 OF FATHER'S ESTATE

Theodore H. Cartwright of Boston, a United States marine for the last eight years, petitioned the Supreme Court to recover about $10,350 which, he alleges, was paid wrongfully to Mary H. Bull of Seattle, former wife of his father, George B. Cartwright, an absentee not heard from for thirty years.

The equity suit is brought against Lizzie A. Blume and others as executors of the estate of Andreas Blume, famous Boston probate lawyer, who died in 1917, leaving $500,000, and was a trustee of a deed of trust made by Pamelia J. Howe of Boston, who died in 1893, and against Charles A. Cooley of Marblehead, who is the other trustee of the Howe trust.

'PEACE' SLOGAN OF FRANCE, SAYS HERRIOT

Hopes United States Will Continue to Aid in Disarmament

Geneva, Sept. 5 (A.P.)—Premier Herriot of France, addressing the Fifth Assembly of the League of Nations today, began by saying that he brought the word of France to the assembly, and that word was peace.

He hoped the United States would not refuse to continue its useful collaboration in disarmament, especially now that arbitration had come in as a feature.

The French premier mounted the Tribune in front of the jammed auditorium amid a hum of interest and before beginning his address received a great ovation.

Panic As 3 Shocks Shake Capitol of Iceland

London, Sept. 5 (I.N.S.)—Three violent earthquake shocks were felt during the night at Reykjavik, Iceland, said a despatch to the Daily Mail today.

The people were thrown into panic and fled from their homes. There were no casualties.

Reykjavik was one of the stopping places of Lieutenant Lowell Smith and Lieutenant Erik Nelson, the United States Army round the world flyers.

SEARCHLIGHT TRAPS KILL INSECT PESTS

Breslau, Silesia, Sept. 5.—Searchlight traps to rid the country of a plague of insects have been tried out successfully along the German-Polish frontier, where the great pine forests suffered from the ravages of swarms of caterpillars, the larvae of a species of nocturnal moth.

Searchlights were set up at night at points in and near the forests, attracting the moths in Myriad numbers and luring them into the powerful rays of light near the incandescent carbons, where they were cremated by the millions. In some instances electric fans were used to whirl the moths int othe "flame" and bring about quicker results.

CHAS. C. COPELAND MILTON, MASS.

SPIRIT PROOF STILL LACKING, SAYS BIRD

"Margery" Test Not Real Evidence of Speech With the Dead, He States

We are still far away from the spirits.

The Scientific American's possible award of $2,500 to Mrs. LeRoi G. Cranden, of No. 10 Lime street, Beacon Hill, for producing genuine psychic phenomena, will bring us no whit nearer to the age-old question of whether we can communicate with the departed dead.

While thousands of persons interested in spiritualism throughout the country are besieging the office of the Scientific American for an answer to their question, excited by the publicity given the investigation of Mrs. Crandon, the answer remains the same.

"No," says J. Malcolm Bird, who resigned as secretary of the investigating committee after Harry Houdini, the conjurer, had thrown the committee into dissension by attempting to test Mrs. Grandon by means of a magician's box.

NOT CONCLUSIVE.

"The decision of the Scientific American's investigating committee will in no wise be evidence of communication with alleged spirit beings," declared Bird in a statement to the Boston American at his New York office.

"I do not mean that the theory of spirit forces as a possible explanation would not be considered, but this theory would be only one of countless possibilities.

"If Mrs. Crandon is awarded the nprize money for producing genuine manifestations, these phenomena will be physical demonstrations of a psychic nature—that is, action occasioned by some unknown force.

"By the word 'psychic,' we mean of some unknown category—not explained by anything we already know.

"It may mean biological forces in man of which we know nothing.

"Of course, it also may be spirit communication, but this is just as much a theory as anything else.

TRICK OF SUBCONSCIOUS MIND.

"Many people, however, seem to be under the impression that this investigation will decide whether the spirits are transmitting the phenomena. This is not so, because one explanation may be selected as well as another.

"The production of genuine psychic phenomena means that the medium has satisfactorily given expression to some unknown force in him or her—nothing more."

So-called spirit messages and writings, declares Bird, may be a trick of the subconscious mind.

"The sincerity of the medium is by no means impugned by his or her belief that spirits actually are communicating. A medium may produce genuine manifestations and be tricked by her own subconscious mind into believing that her messages are given her by a departed friend.

"However, this does not eclipse the belief of investigators that certain psychic phenomena have occurred."

UNCHARTED POWERS

Bird, in deference to the committee members refrained from reiterating views expressed by him on the lecture platform at Williams College a year ago in which he publicly declared he believed genuine psychic phenomena had occurred:

"While most of the mediums I have visited have proved to be frauds, many demonstrations that I have seen are genuine and apparently brought about through uncharted powers of the human mind."

"When an object moves across the table," says Bird, "eliminating fraud and sleight-of-hand, we must first prove that the object really did move. Next we must prove that the movement was of a psychic nature—that it was impelled across the table by a truly psychic force and that it cannot be explained by anything we know.

"To do this entails an exhaustive process of elimination of physical possibilities—the removal of conditions under which the phenomena might be produced by physical forces."

THREATENS TO DEADLOCK.

It is for this reason that the investigation of "Margery's" phenomena has been drawn out through several months with no immediate agreement of the committee in sight.

The disagreement of Houdini with other members of the committee threatens to tie up the decision for the present. A four-to-one vote by the committee of five members is necessary to award the prize money to Mrs. Crandon, a mere majority vote not being considered sufficient in so weighty a matter.

A three-to-two vote against Mrs. Crandon, however, will keep the award from her and a similar vote in the affirmative will result in a tie vote with no award by the committee.

Regardless of the decision rendered by the committee, J. Malcolm Bird will write his own verdict of Mrs. Crandon's manifestations, which is to date, considered favorable to Mrs. Crandon.

EDITH DAY DOES NOT WANT TO BE DIVORCED

She's So Happy She Spurns Idea of Divorcing Her Pat Somerset

Smiling her prettiest, lovely Edith Day slipped into Boston to spend an hour or two with her actor-husband, Pat Somerset, and give the lie to those who had been whispering that they were going to be divorced.

"How ridiculous," said Miss Day, when reporters found her at the Plymouth Theatre, where Somerset is appearing in "The Outsider."

"We never were happier or more thoroughly united, and divorce was never farther from our minds."

She returned to New York on the midnight train to resume rehearsals of "The Wildflower," which opens on Broadway soon.

Pat and Edith spent the summer at her uncle's farm in Minnesota, she said and only separated to fill their professional engagements.

Their baby is with Edith's mother, and will remain there until she can get a new nurse, the old nurse having undertaken matrimony on her own account.

FITCHBURG MAN SLAIN; ASSAILANT ARRESTED

Fitchburg, Sept. 5.—Antonio Anzalone was arrested on a charge of murder after, according to the police, he had shot and killed Rocco Petito when Petito, who was said to have been his friend, called at his home here.

Petito, according to friends of Anzalone, rapped at a window of the Anuzalone house and when admitted began talking excitedly and threatened to shoot.

Anzalone, they said, went to his room and returned with a revolver, firing instantly. Petito dropped dead.

OCCUPY 'LOVE NEST' IN MILTON

Clinton B. Libbey Insists That the Story of Bride's Estrangement Is False

True love will always find a way.

Take the case of Edith Mary Stuart Champney Libbey and her husband, Clinton Burpee Libbey of No. 10 Rockwell street, Milton.

During the last week of August Malden and Somerville friends were startled by the announcemtnt that the pair had been married two years For a long time not even the mother of Libbey had known about it.

At the time of the announcemtnt it was also reported the young couple were living apart.

Today Mr. Libbey declared to a Boston American reporter that he and his wife were not estranged, and that they are living happily in a little love nest at No. 10 Rockwell street, Milton.

"The newspapers have done me and my wife a great injustice," declared Mr. Libbey. "They have declared that my wife and I are separated. We are not. When the stories appeared in the papers we were together up at Wolfeboro, N. H. We then had our own home in Milton where we are now living. We had lived there before going to New Hampshire. Why these stories started, and who started them, is something I would like to find out.

"Of course all has not been smooth sailing. But that was no fault of my wife or I. We are happy. We have not been separated except when we were keeping the marriage secret while waiting to establish a real home to go to. That is all there is to it. We are together and happy."

TWO GREEK SOLDIERS SLAIN IN BULGARIA

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 5.—Two Greek soldiers have been killed in a conflict on Bulgarian territory south of Petrich. An official announcement quotes a report from the commander of a Bulgarian post, who says he saw four Greek soldiers and one civilian two kilometers from the Greek frontier, advancing toward a pasture in which cattle from the village of Monostir were grazing, with the intention of driving off the animals. When called upon to withdrew, he declares, the Greeks refused, and the Bulgarians fired, killing two of the men.

WHERE, OH, WHERE, IS THAT BAD DOG, TEDDY?

Has anyone seen Teddy?

Teddy is a collie dog, the property of Miss Frances Magoon, of No. 20 Wilson avenue, Waverley.

He has been missing since Aug. 5, when he disappeared in the Montclair district of Dorchester.

Frances is inconsolable over the loss of her pet, and anyone who has seen him will confer a great favor on her by letting her know.

COUPLE IN SECRET WEDDING HAPPY

MRS. EDITH CHAMPNEY LIBBEY

Wed two years before friends knew of it, this young wife of Milton man was reported estranged but the husband declares such rumors false, that he and his wife are happy in a new home in Milton.

Elevated Draws the 'Color Line'; Puts Orange Above the Green

Things being quiet and dull in these here parts, with no aruments a-tall to start a man's fightin' blood boomin,' the Elevated, reen these many years as is proper an' respectful, has decided to ome out orange.

Not that orange ain't all right in its place. Nature herself has so planned the fruit, and orange blossome is significant of the holy state, whilst goldenrods, which is rightly poison to some, an' daffydils, which is named proper for its tint, lean an' tend toward the unsightly shade.

IT MIGHT BE EXPECTED.

Hardly was the dire words of slander against a proud race uttered by these Elevated officials than from the old green isle that is bounded in the better part by West Cork on the South, Dublin on he East, North Mayo on the Northwest and Connemara betwixt an' between, came hearty kicks from loyal Celts who look upon no fight or quarrel as private.

"Since't Ned McSweeney first slapped the ribbons over the hosses that pulled the first street car in Boston, the motter has been 'Follow the green line,'" cabled Seamus O'Donnell from Ballannassock today. "Don't cross the river 'tis it's flood an' can give you a fair fight."

TAKE THE CURSE OFF.

Another rush cable was from one Terence O'Halloran from South Kilkenny, where the cats first learned to fight, not only days but nights. This read:

"If you must have the dirty color, paint shamrocks atop it. 'Twill take the curse off."

Shaun O'Malley, the "One-Eyed Connelly of Ireland," who crashed the gate even at the Donneybrook Fair and got away with it, happens to be in Boston looking up a good war. He was found today punching the bag in a friend's home.

COLOR IS EVIDENCE.

Shaun says he uses no ordinary punching bag. Every time he makes a pass at an ordinary bag it bursts and the air spills all over everything. Instead he professes to use burlap potato bags filled with cobble stones.

These have to be renewed every two or three days, because the sharp edges on the crushed stone eventually breaks into, and cuts his knuckles.

"'Tis a cryin' shame," he said, when interviewed, "but every man is known by his color. There's a way to stop such a thing as this, now, I'm telling you."

His tones was omnious and the reporter could see his fists clinch.

"Perhaps you could tackle the situation and clean it up singlehanded," the reporter suggested.

MAYOR IS SLIPPING.

The famed gate-crasher looked around nervously. "I'm in a hurry to get to Mexico. I hear there's a dandy war browin' there," he said quickly. "Only for that—"

He cut his sentence, but there was no doubting his sincerity.

Mayor Curley was seen today on the question and was asked if he would intervene for the sake of Boston, the city of large Irish population. But the Mayor, sad to relate, is slipping. He locked aloft at the sky, winked slyly and said:

"It's a wonderful thing these world flyers are doing."

he city's gone to the dogs.

ARMY OF OCCUPATION IS CUT 23,000 MEN

Brussels, Sept. 5. (A.P.)—France's army of occupation in the Ruhr at the present moment comprises 22,000 men, according to trustworthy authority. The army originally numbered 45,000. One of the principal obstacles in the way of rapid evacuation of the Franco-Belgian occupied territory is the difficulty of moving quickly the families of non-commissioned officers and railway workers.

REPARATIONS OFFICIAL SOON TO GO ABROAD

New York, Sept. 5.—S. Parker Gilbert, Jr., who has been appointed commissioner-general of reparations, issued from his law firm of Cravath, Henderson & De Gersdorff, No. 52 William street, a statement on his appointment. It follows:

"I am deeply sensible of the honor conferred and of the responsibilities which the post involves. I expect to sail for Europe within a month or so.

GHOSTS OF PAST HAUNT KID M'COY

He Has Son of 30, but Refuses to Reveal Name of the Child's Mother

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 5. (I.N.S.)—"God, how the ghosts of the past rise up to haunt a man—"

Overcome with the news the public had learned he had a son, Norman Selby, Jr., the old fighter, lapsed into retrospection of the past today in his cell in the county jail, where he is held charged with killing Mrs. Teresa Mors.

"I am glad he told the story and not me," McCoy murmured. He declared it was thirty years ago he was sworn to secrecy about his son "to save the good name of a woman."

"I've never seen this boy of mine," he continued. "I didn't know I had a son until he was fifteen months old. Then I was told I could never see him. Did I doubt he was mine? Not for a minute. It had been the one secret of my life and now it has come to light.

MIGHTY FINE BOY.

"Say, that was mighty fine of the boy, under the circumstances, don't you think? To think he'd acknowledge me now, when I'm down and out, held on a murder charge. Say, he must have a lot of good stuff in him, eh?

"Who was 'she' that the 'kid' would not reveal?"

"I was sworn to secrecy," he said, "and I'll never tell.

"Her folks were pretty well fixed. You know how they are in those little towns in the mid-west. Comfortably well off.

"I was boxing for a month at the opera house there. Gosh, it's so long ago now. Just think, we were only kids. Her folks couldn't see me. I was only a boxer and didn't amount to much.

THE "KID" MOVED ON

"Then I moved on to another town and we corresponded for a few weeks. One day the letters stopped coming. I wrote several times but got no reply.

"Fifteen months afterwards I received one letter from her. In that letter she told me that I had a son. She swore me to secrecy. That I was never to reveal it; that her folks would not let her write to me and that I never was to come near her. I tried several times but it was no use. So I waited through the years.

"Is she dead? I don't know. Never heard of her until today, through all the years, until this boy, my boy, comes to my defence.

"She must have told some one some time or other. She was a dear, sweet girl. A good girl, but she should have told me about the trouble ahead of her.

"She said he looked like me in that letter she wrote.

"And now he acknowledges me before the world. He must be made of good stuff. What a son—"

LOEB'S FATHER TO HEAR COURT VERDICT ON SON

Chicago, Sept. 4.—At the risk of serious consequence due to ill health, Albert H. Loeb, father of Richard Loeb, awaiting sentence for the kidnaping and murder of Bobby Franks, is understood to have determined to be present in Judge Caverly's court Wednesday when sentence is pronounced upon the youthful confessors to the crime.

SHOT BY WIFE, AND THEN HE'S ARRESTED

Salem Man Seized by Police When He Goes to Hospital for Treatment

Hooksett, N. H., Sept. 5.—Harry E. Kelley, a stone mason employed in Salem, Mass., was arrested early today at the Sacred Heart Hospital, Manchester, where he went for treatment for a bullet wound in his hip, alleged to have been inflicted by his wife, Mrs. Onie Kelley, during an argument in their home here.

Although the wife admits that she inflicted the wound, he authorities arrested Kelley after they had heard his wife's story about an alleged attack he made upon her. She told the authorities that she shot her husband in self-defense.

Mrs. Kelley was formerly the wife of Claude Gillespie of Boston. Kelley was attentive to her and Gillespie was sentenced to a term in jail, and while serving it his wife divorced him and married Kelley, who had divorced his wife.

Kelley accused his wife of accepting attentions and receiving mail from her divorced husband. She charged him with mistreating her and trying to compel her to sign her property over to him.

County Solicitor Rainie heard the story of the affray when he reached his office at Concord and found Mrs. Kelley waiting for him. She told him of the attack and of her husband being wounded in the struggle with her when she tried to frighten him.

She said her husband appeared at their bungalow on the Martin's pond road, having come over the road in an automobile with another man from Salem.

She said he was abusive and threatening in his manner and she believed he was drunk. She became terrified and seized a revolver, with which she tried to frighten him out of the house, she said, but he attacked her and attempted to wrest the revolver from her. As she struggled to retain it it was discharged and a bullet struck her husband in the hip.

MELLON, BACK ON JOB, BOOSTS DAWES PLAN

Washington, Sept. 4—Back at his desk after his vacation in Europe, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today declared acceptance of the Dawes reparation settlement had demonstrated beyond doubt that the United States could exert its greatest influence in untangling Europe's problems by acting in an unofficial capacity.

This country is in a better position to wield its power for world good when acting as a friend and advisor, he said, than it would be if connected officially with the League of Nations.

HOTEL IS DESTROYED; FIREBUG SUSPECTED

South Jamesport, N. Y., Sept. 5.—The Idlewild Hotel was destroyed today by a fire which District Attorney Hildreth said he believed was of incendiary origin. The loss was estimated at $25,000. A cottage adjacent to the hotel was destroyed. The Idlewild had been closed for the season and was occupied only by the caretaker and his wife, who escaped the flames.

WORCESTER LABOR MEN OPPOSE DEFENCE DAY

Worcester, Sept. 5.—A resolution opposing National Defence Day plans was adopted by the Central Labor Union. [illegible] B. Donovan, president, stated that the opposition was due to what the organization considered was the motive and purposes behind the movement.

AID IS RUSHED TO LINER AFIRE IN ENGLISH CHANNLE

Cherbourg, France, Sept. 5.—A steamship, presumed to be the German Liner [illegible], is on fire thirty miles off Casquet Rocks in the English Channel. The Despatch boats Aisne and Ailette, which were carrying out manoeuvres in the vicinity, went to her assistance.

NEW ZEALAND IS REDUCING ITS TAXES

Wellington, N. Z., Sept. 5.—The government's revenue bill proposes reduction in several taxes of general application. The land tax is to be cut 10 per cent. and the income tax 13 1-3 per cent., while reductions are also provided in the amusement and tobacco levies.

SAYS COOLIDGE FACES ABOUT ON P. O. WAGES

Veto of Salary Increase and Labor Day Address Compared by Flaherty

Washington, Sept. 5.—In a statement issued through the American Federation of Labor publicity department President Coolidge's Labor Day address was attacked by Thomas F. Flaherty, secretary of the National Federation of Post-Office Clerks, as contradicting the President's own previous declarations in his veto message on the postal salary increase bill.

The statement reads:

"The President said that living costs are now only sixty-nine per cent. above the level of 1913. Apply his figures to postal pay standards and the injustice of his veto is apparent. The major portions of the clerical and letter carrier forces were receiving an annual wage of $1,200 in 1913. They are now receiving $1,860 a year—or an increase of fifty per cent.

"The President now approves a policy in private industry of adjusting wages to living costs that he condemned in his veto message when applied to the lower paid postal employes."

Declaring the President had signed a bill on April 4, granting salary increases of fifty per cent. to the higher paid postal officials, the statement continued:

"The four assistants of his postmaster general, all political appointees, were raised from $5,000 to $7,500. These increases are paid from postal revenues. Apparently the urgent necessity of stopping government extravagance or making the postal service self-sustaining did not occur to the President until Congress endeavored to raise the pay of the non-political workers in the postal service."

POLITICS---The 1924 Campaign

WHEELER RAPS APPOINTMENT OF SLEMP

La Follette's Running Mate Enthusiastically Received in Rhode Island

Providence, R. I., Sept. 5. (Universal).—Providence gave Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Independent-Progressive Vice-Presidential nominee, an enthusiastic reception.

Sensing the tense political atmosphere as a result of the Rhode Island Senate filibuster, Senator La Follette's running mate made a great effort to cut in on the vote of both the old parties.

He was interrupted several times by demonstrations as he told auditors that the national third ticket was not intended to interfere in State politics, and promised that its managers would not in Rhode Island, seek to indorse or put up candidates for State office.

"We are not here to disrupt any progressively alignment," he asserted, "nor to break down any fusion that has been accomplished in your State politics. Senator La Follette, that grand old man, is a Republican. I am a Democrat—but not a Wall Street Democrat. If you find a candidate suitable for Governor or anything else, you don't need to look at the party label."

He mentioned the controversy which has in recent months rended the Rhode Island legislature.

"I was warned to stay away," he said, "because they used gas bombs in Rhode Island politics. But down in the United States Senate, I've gotten used to stenches. When we took the lid off Teapot Dome, when we got into the investigation of Attorney General Daugherty, when we opened up the Veteran's Bureau, all over and against the opposition of President Coolidge, we got used to bad smells. We had to."

Taking up the "Coolidge myth" Senator Wheeler asserted that "this new figure imposed on the American public by the Republican organization is as spurious an article as the wooden nutmegs for which your neighboring State used to be famous.

"Common sense is admired by New Englanders because every one of you imagines that he has a little of it himself. I am willing, I am anxious, in fact, that this whole issue should be tried by our common sense.

"In the face of the events that have occurred in Washington, while Coolidge sat silent, your common-sense will tell you that either he didn't know what was being done or that he knew and was willing that events should take their course.

Political Notes

Congressman Peter F. Tague, at rallies in Charlestown, charged that Martin M. Lomasney has no legal and continuous residence in the Tenth District, declaring: "Boss Lomasney, the Brookline carpet-bagger in 1922, the records show, lived at No. 27A McLean street, West End; in 1923, at No. 106 Bowdoin street, West End, a lodging house; again, this year, the voting lists show he is voting from No. 130 Bowdoin street, West End, another lodging house."

General Charles H. Cole accompanied John J. Cummings, of Boston, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor, in his tour of South Boston and spoke at several rallies.

The Italian-American Democratic Club of South Boston unanimously endorsed the candidacy of former Senator James H. Brennan for Register of Probate. Patrick H. Shanahan addressed the members.

At a meeting in Convention Hall, St. Botolph street, and later in Lawrence, Louis A. Coolidge, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, said: "One of my competitors has said that he is dry and I am wet. If by being wet he means I believe the Volstead Act should be brought into harmony with the eternal laws of human nature, then he is right, for I believe the Volstead Act should be modified."

John H. Farley candidate for the Democratic nomination for register of Probate for Suffolk County at rallies in South Boston and Charlestown, said he is the only anti-Lomansey candidate in the contest and that by Monday the fight will narrow down to himself and the candidate indorsed by Lomansey.

"Because of gerrymandering in the apportionate act, it is almost certain Republicans will control Democratic Suffolk County," said Matthew Cummings, vice-president of the Democratic City Committee, candidate for the Democratic nomination as Suffolk County Apportionment Commissioner, in the fourth district, at several rallies.

Ratification of the Child Labor Constitutional amendment will not prevent small boys and girls picking blueberries or helping their parents on the farms or prevent boys over 12 selling newspapers, said Congressman Frederick W. Dallinger in his campaign for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, in an address broadcast by radio from the Shepard Stores.

Davis All Ready To Make Appeal To Farmers

Chicago, Sept. 5 (I.N.S.).—John W. Davis was ready today to launch his drive for the farmers' vote.

Davis will formally open his campaign for Mid-West support with a keynote speech on agriculture at Omaha tomorrow night.

The program, it was said, includes proposals for government aid to cooperative marketing associations, creation of a Federal agency to distribute crop and price reports and a new credit system in time of depression.

The nominee will leave Chicago tonight, going direct to Omaha. Sunday will find the nominee in Lincoln, Neb., as the guest of Charles W. Bryan, his running mate.

COOLIDGE AT WORK ON FARM RELIEF PLAN

Washington, Sept. 5.—Government business took up practically the entire attention of President Coolidge today, with the regular cabinet meeting in the morning, and appointments with other officials on his engagement list.

Mr. Coolidge has been devoting considerable attention to his plan for investigating agriculture through a commission, and it has been indicated he would announce the personnel of the commission at an early date. He has asked for additional data on the report of the Tariff Commission relative to the sugar duty, but a decision on this is not expected immediately.

The President will leave tomorrow morning by automobile for Baltimore, where he will deliver an address at the unveiling of the Lafayette statue. He will return immediately after the exercises.

PATTANGALL IN ELOQUENT PLEA BEAT KLAN

Audience Cheers Maine Candidate's Appeal for Big Vote Monday

Lewiston, Me., Sept. 5.—Addressing a large audience in City Hall here W. R. Pattangall, Democratic candidate for governor, caused storms of applause and cheers by vigorous denunciation of the Ku Klux Klan and an eloquent appeal to get out the vote on Monday, election day.

Other speakers were former Congressman Daniel J. McGillicuddy and Fulton J. Redmond, Democratic candidate for United States Senator.

Pattangall first took a rap at those who accused him of raising the Klan issue for his own benefit.

He pointed out that it was Governor Baxter who first called attention to the menace of the Klan in a speech delivered on February 12 in the Lincoln Club in Portland. Then he read an editorial, which commented on this speech in the next day's issue of the Portland Press-Herald.

"And they said that I raised the Klan issue," said Mr. Pattangall, with biting sarcasm.

He declared that many people in Maine have joined the Klan without knowing its real purpose, which he said is the most sinister that has ever come into Maine politics.

He said that the folly of the Klan doctrine is that it is impossible in time of war.

"If war does come," he went on, "and the Klan is in power, draft riots are sure to ensue. You would deserve them. Do you think you could say to part of the people of this country, 'You are not as good as we are,' when the wind was fair and the sun shone, and then say to them, 'You must fight for us' when war comes? Such a thing is monstrous."

Mr. Pattangall drew a word picture of the World War cemeteries of France, where soldiers of all religious faiths and races sleep side by side in an eloquent peroration asked what would be thought, if upon examination, it was discovered that the "unknown soldier" in Arlington was one of those banned by the Klan.

Healthy, Happy Children is Mother's Greatest Joy

New Way to Take Cod Liver Oil—Greatest Tonic and Builder of Firm Flesh and Sturdy Bones in the World

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets

Of course, all mothers—and grandmothers for that matter—know that the greatest builder of firm, healthy flesh in thin, puny, rundown children is cod liver oil, and especially where there are any signs of Rickets.

But here's something every mother doesn't know—Cod Liver Oil helps to make strong, healthy bones—and even helps to make better teeth.

Yes, it's true: Doctors know it. Dentists know it—chemists know it.

And now here's another surprise! No more will the kiddies have to take the vile, nasty tasting, evil smelling oil that nine times in ten disturbs their sensitive stomachs and almost turns them inside out.

Never again, thank goodness, will they even have to smell the vile stuff, for now science has given us—and people who keep up with the times are taking—McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—sugar coated and as easy to take as candy.

So now you can go ahead and make the sickly youngsters strong and well—make the puny one sturdy and full of pep—make the skinny one put on good solid flesh—and if any one of them has Rickets you can conquer that too.

Mothers—Try McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets for [illegible] children [illegible] they will give them [illegible] and if you aren't satisfied with results, all druggists [illegible] the druggist [illegible] [illegible] gained 11½ pounds in [illegible] weeks. Be sure and get the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets.

KID NORFOLK IS TOLD TO REST BY SPIRITUALIST

By JACK CONWAY.

KID NORFOLK, enjoying a vacation at a New York resort, stumbled into a spiritualist meeting or some such place, placed his offering upon the silver plate and then asked to be told how he would come out in his bout with Batting McCreary, which was booked to be decided at the Armory A. A.'s show.

"Boy, you're not batting McCreary Friday night," said the king pin spiritualist as he propelled himself through the air with the aid of several wires. "The match has been called off. The promoters knew you were enjoying yourself here and didn't want to interfere with your pleasure."

So the Black Panther took himself out into the great open places and told his sparring partners and trainers to do the same.

* * *

LEO FLYNN, master mind and manager of Norfolk, later donned his ears in the whispering waves and heard that Norfolk had stopped training. He immediately notified the Armory Club. Leo didn't reveal the story of the spiritualist meeting but closed the chapter by saying that somebody had notified his office while he was away that the Norfolk-McCreary bout was off.

Leo the Great wasn't on the job at the time and one of his secretaries who doesn't know that New York and Boston are connected by telephone wires told Norfolk to go on a vacation.

That's Leo's story. If you are a youthful high school graduate or the inmate of a home for the aged, you may believe it.

Anyhowe the show is off until Tuesday evening next week when the Triple A hopes to start its original program. Tickets will be good for that date.

Moral—Don't permit your boxers to attend spiritualist meetings if you are a manager. Also don't try to make the public believe black is white.

DODGERS MAY GAIN FIRST RUNG TODAY

Only a little puff of wind is now needed to blow the haughty Giants off the National League throne.

The Dodgers, by taking a double header from the Braves, which ran their total of consecutive victories to thirteen, climbed over the forms of the fattening Pirates to a virtual tie with the New Yorkers for first place. The percentage table shows only a difference of .003 in favor of the Giants but that is accounted [illegible] reason that the Robbies have played four more games than the [illegible] from the Polo Grounds.

GEERS' DEATH HARD BLOW TO TURF

"POP" GEERS, the Grand Old Man of the Turf, has driven his last race.

The veteran reinsman, with a record of fifty years on the racetrack, was known from coast to coast and respected by every follower of the great American pastime.

Pop Geers

Geers never lost a friend. His long years of service, his devotion to the sport and his record for clean and upright racing made him the most beloved figure in turfdom.

Geers had driven many of the world's most famous horses and made a fortune but his winnings were devoted to helping others.

It was a sad ending to a brilliant career. The day had been devoted to the veteran and it was to have been his final race. "Just giving the old game one more twirl," he told his friends.

His death is mourned by all lovers of good, clean sports.

"Old Pop" was a credit to the turf.

POLO SERIES TO START TOMORROW

MATCH TO COST NEAR $500,000

New York, Sept. 5.—[illegible] versal.—The intrinsic value of the international polo trophy undoubtedly does not exceed twenty-five hundred dollars, but its sentimental worth is so great that American and English sportsmen have spent fortunes to gain possession of the historic trophy.

On the [illegible] Field tomorrow [illegible] representing [illegible] tions in America [illegible] strive for the [illegible] proudly [illegible]

The match [illegible] out of three games [illegible] tournament will probably [illegible] more than seven [illegible] final cost [illegible] it is bound to be [illegible] of half a million.

LACEY NAMED CAPTAIN.

Louis Lacey [illegible] of the invading [illegible] the first [illegible] against the American [illegible] was elected [illegible] ing the resignation [illegible] dall, who has acted as the team leader since [illegible] in this country.

The official team [illegible] the Americans [illegible] nounced by [illegible] of the selection [illegible] first four Kirkwood [illegible] Hurndall at No. [illegible] No. 3, and Lacey, back.

MOST COSTLY GAME.

Polo, tennis and golf are the most expensive games in which [illegible] participate. The [illegible] successful [illegible] ponies. Some of our best [illegible] come from Texas [illegible] tine. Every [illegible] tional polo [illegible] in Great Britain [illegible] States have been combing the world, regardless of cost and effort, in search of mounts that would lead their teams to victory.

Since the arrival of the British team on these shores there has been considerable criticism concerning the [illegible] twenty-five ponies that [illegible] British [illegible] Sporting [illegible]

This is not the case. The care of the English ponies is in the hands of grooms that know their [illegible] from many [illegible] experience. They have watched and pampered these horses much more than they would the winner of the English Derby.

RUTLAND DRIVERS TRY FOR NEW RECORD TODAY

Rutland, Vt., Sept. 5.—Today's feature in the harness racing [illegible] is the free-for-all pace for $2,[illegible] with Grace Direct, Symbol S. Forest, Jimmie McKerron, Peter [illegible], Mary O'Connor and Lambert Todd [illegible] take the world [illegible] ning fast [illegible] Single G [illegible] is in danger. $500 goes to the driver to accomplish this hard task.

The 2:14 stake trot for $2,000 has three smart ones to take the word. The Boston mare is [illegible] favored to win, but in Red Worthy and the Ultimate the Hub mare has a difficult road to travel.

The 2:22 and 2:20 pacing classes will round out the day's card.

Yesterday the Boston [illegible] work, caught the [illegible] first in the $2,000 stake for 2:14 [illegible] but it took five heats before victory was assured.

Alice Brooke, [illegible] fast trotter Tillie Brooke [illegible] field in the 2:17 trot. [illegible] counted for the 2:17 pace. [illegible] Todd beat Peter S[illegible] and a rather formidable field in the [illegible] stake [illegible] while Baron F[illegible] won [illegible] finished 2:17 pacing stake, held over from Wednesday.

GANAY AND MOESKOPS WIN AT WORCESTER

Worcester, Sept. [illegible]—Gus Ganay of France won the 40-mile championship [illegible] George Chapman, who was leading up to the 36th mile, finished second.

In the sprint match between Moeskops, world's champion [illegible] and Art Spencer [illegible] the Hollander won two out of three heats.

LAWRENCE TAKES LEAD FOR TWILIGHT PENNANT

Lawrence defeated North Cambridge, 4 to 0, in the first game of the Twilight League's world series.

Stevenson, Veteran Polo Star, but New in Big Cup Play

Malcolm Stevenson, No. 3 on America's "Big Four" which meets Great Britain in the first of the international challenge cup series next Saturday, is the newest link in this country's [illegible] star polo combination.

Malcolm Stevenson.

Stevenson is a veteran of many years of national championship play, but this will mark his debut in the cup competition. In 1911 he was chosen as a member of a team to play in England but lost his opportunity to perform when the venture was abandoned.

Stevenson is regarded as one of the best defensive men in the game. He belongs to the Meadow Brook Club and played on the Cooperstown team which won both the junior and senior championships. He is thirty-seven years old and began playing polo at nineteen.

Genaro as Well as Gate Receipts Got Whooping Cough

There wasn't any bout [illegible] Pancho Villa and Frankie Genaro in Brooklyn.

A set you can put together

Only one tuning dial

ALL the tuning on an Acmeflex Kitset is done with one dial—the simplest possible way. It is so simple that your wife and the kiddies can use it to their hearts' content, getting "all the year 'round radio," and everything on a loudspeaker.

It is an easy set to make, too. It's the famous ACME 4-TUBE "REFLEX" set. Everything needed for putting the complete set together comes to you nicely packed in one wooden box for $65.00. Even a screwdriver and a pair of pliers, the only tools needed, are given with the kit. No soldering necessary. That's a good riddance. No workshop or technical knowledge needed. The only accessories to get are the tubes, batteries, loudspeaker and cabinet.

Full directions and print of wiring are furnished with the set. Only 42 simple steps and it is done—in one evening easily. Send for descriptive circular.

"Are those Tubes Genuine?"

The question is heard at every radio counter: "Is it a genuine Radiotron?" Almost every dependable manufacturer uses genuine Radiotrons in his sets. Everyone who builds his own knows enough about radio to know that nothing else but the genuine will do. And the man who replaces used-up tubes in his set knows that to get the same performance, he must have the same tubes—genuine Radiotrons only. So everybody asks "Is it genuine?" And asks to see the marks that prove it—the name "Radiotron" and the "RCA" mark.

SEQUEL OF CHICKIE

By Elenore Meherin

Boston Girl's Impassioned Love Story and Her Struggle to Live It Down and Come Back

She Was Touched to the Heart

THAT afternoon she walked half way down to the hospital, not knowing why. She walked back in a breathless panic —

No use! Those gates were closed. She couldn't force them to reopen. Resentment burned like a poison in her heart. She wanted to talk—about out this thing—

Yet when the phone rang for her, she refused to answer.

And three days passed. Thursday afternoon a registered package came. It was from Jake. With in was a bracelet—a broad, platinum band, massed with diamonds and sapphires. It was the most exquisite thing Chickie had ever seen. Oh—a gift like this for her. Tears sprang into her eyes. There was a note.

"Mr. Manson presents his compliments to Miss Helena Bryce and begs she will accept the enclosed in memory of moons and sich, and that she will accept it yay or nay. Firstly, if it be yay, then in honor of great winds on mountain tops. Secondly—though God save the man's soul if it be nay—yet that she accept it none the less in token of much beauty and the sweetness of great hours shared."

Touched to the Heart

She was touched to the inmost heart by that note, even more than she was astonished at the priceless gift. For the note had the mellowness, and the rich, fine tolerance that was Jake's.

Much he cared if they called her "doubtful." Ho—if she wrote one single word he would come speeding. He would laugh at these puny judgments. "To the devil with them, Helena. Let them kick us out on our face. I tell you there are better gardens to tread!"

Something like that Jake would say. He would put his arms around her; snap his fingers at the world—

Chickie put the bracelet on her wrist. She sat down, feeling suddenly weak and defeated—tried hard to come back alone—

And how gentle it was—and how sweet to know another cared. Another—high up in the world's good grace would yet so gladly stoop to her—

The Visitor

That night Chickie wrote to Jake. She would keep the gift because of the way it was offered. She would prize it above measure. There were long, bright pages. When it was finished she dashed a bit of sachet on the paper, for this was a schoolgirl trick of hers. And she signed her name with an [illegible] flourish.

[illegible] made no mention of her [illegible] no hint that she was [illegible]

[illegible] at her pretty wicker desk [illegible] a dry pen back and forth over [illegible] page. Her heart was blazing.

For there had been, like a star in her mind, the dream of great achievement; vision of a new and glorious Chickie climbing up to some great height; pale, beautiful person, with a light about her like she had seen in the faces of those who serve.

She wanted this; had followed the hope of it. In the hospital it became each day more nearly hers.

Now it was gone. The world wanted her to fail—had the power to shut her out. She considered this with a hard, metallic quiet. They could say she was a menace and ask her to leave. If the world could do this, what was to become of her? Hate spread like a wound in her mind.

Yet she wouldn't admit to Jake that she was conquered. To write this would mean surrender, complete and final, of her fight. She wasn't ready for this—not yet—

Withal, she had never wished more piercingly for someone to stand beside her, someone to say that faith was high—oh, come now—

She thought of Mary. Ask her. Mary might think of a way.

She went down to Mary's on Friday morning. Mary thought it was just her day off. This made it hard to speak. Now, if Mary had said: "How come! What are you doing home? This isn't your free time, is it?" Chickie would have answered, "Ho—you bet it's free! Time's my own again. Kicked out—that's a fact . . ."

But Mary's eyes were dancing with excitement. She grabbed Chickie effusively: "You heard! Oh— you didn't? About Lucy—well—sit tight then. If it isn't delirious! After all these years of grubbing, in walks George Adams last night with $10,000 in his pockets. Poor Lucy.

"She's almost out of her mind. It's from those old lots they owned over in West Roxbury. You remember when Lu [illegible] on a picnic about a hundred years ago, and we got all sunburned and all came home with a grouch? And George bought the lots and paid about two-bits for them?

"Well—the railroad needs them. And they bounce down the $10,000—no eye winked about it one way or the other—"

This was drama exultant and quivering marching straight into their homely kitchens. They raved about it—Mary was in a fever. So Chickie didn't speak.

Delight Tempered

But after lunch when the first extraordinary delight was a little tempered, Chickie's own problem came uppermost. She went over ways of broaching the subject and mentally decided to say calmly: "Mary, I've been asked to resign. I've left the hospital. I have no idea what on earth to do now—"

What she heard herself saying was this: "Mary—what do you suppose would happen if they should find out about me?"

"For pity sakes—why should they find out about it now? It would be the purest accident if they should stumble on it."

Just then little Edward came in from the back yard. He was now 5, full of roguery, and at the knowing stage where he seized on each new word, rolled it over under his tongue, and lay in his crib at night trying it out. He said to Chickie once when she appeared without a hat and with her hair blown, "Say— you look reckless!" And he teased Mary by calling her in very precise, prolonged sounds: [illegible]

[illegible] it made over. Then Mary must teach him again how to play. When they got to the mailbox between the fifth and sixth space, there was a heated argument. Couldn't she tell him how to do it? You did not straddle the box—that wasn't the [illegible] And it wasn't a mailbox anyhow. It was the devil's ears belonged there in the center. Well he [illegible]

Way to Play

Mary said: "It is the way! That's the way we always played. You ask Chickie."

Edward wrinkled his nose, with a lofty: "Maybe that was the way in old times! 'Tain't the way now!" He puzzled and practiced and finally jumped with both feet together. And that was the new good way.

Mary became absorbed, wondering about the child. Should she give his individuality full play? Should she let him contradict and argue with [illegible] should she curb and [illegible] humor?

[illegible] problem until Chickie's desire to speak was gone. Then Mary said: "What was that we were talking about?"

"I forget. Nothing important, I suppose."

Why make Mary sad? Settle it herself.

[illegible] There would be a conclave of all the [illegible] little and big in Martha's kitchen. They would have lunch and wind into all the [illegible]

As [illegible] the [illegible] Edward insisted on [illegible] Chickie thought, "How little [illegible] of each other—even Mary [illegible] I"

[illegible] word and Mary was [illegible] Mary looked [illegible] young [illegible] in [illegible] The little girl looked [illegible]

"You darling blessed little thing."

Chickie shivered. She felt very alone, with a wish suddenly to cling to another. She said to Mary: "Let me take her this afternoon. Then you can be free—"

Janice was the child's name for its mother believed in fanciness. Janice was two and as pretty as the dream Mary weaved for her.

Peculiar Manner

It affected Jennie in a peculiar manner, these visits of the little golden haired girl. She sometimes looked at the two bright, shiny heads—Chickie with its deep, soft waves and the baby's, a fluff of curls. Once she went over and turned the two faces upward. And suddenly great tears ran down her cheeks.

It affected Wilde's also. He was jealous and walked round and round, sniffing contemptuously. [illegible] how do you-do, Dog. Jealous of a baby!" So he settled at Chickie's feet, but looking up now and then to remind her of his presence.

They sat in the room of sun and peace—shut off from the confusion of painters and furniture stacked anyways.

Chickie had the little girl half tucked under her arm. She strung the colored beads. Janice caught at the brilliant reds, doubling up with laughter when she found them in her hands.

Friday—tonight there would have been a concert. She could not keep her thoughts from this. If he didn't know yet—by tomorrow he surely would—

Then there was a knock at the door. She heard her mother's step and imagined Jennie growing whimsical, called out: "Why so formal, Mrs. Bryce? You may enter—"

Jennie opened the door, her face pink as a rose. Behind her was another—a tall figure, with a sallow face, strongly cut and now very intent—almost eager. It was Dr. David.

Sat Motionless

Chickie sat motionless, the little girl in her arms. His eyes sought hers. They were warm. She met them a moment—then a wave of scarlet rushed up, even from her heart, and stained her cheeks.

And he looked at her lowered head and at the child laughing in her face.

He came forward easily, making some excuse: "I wanted to find out about tonight—well—"

Then Jennie came over and took Janice and went tiptoeing out as though this were a conference of state. The little girl protested. She wanted the beads. She insisted on coming back for them.

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

Who Said It and Where

"Mad ambition trumpeteth to all."

No one is safe from the lure of unbridled ambition, Willis asserted in a poem read at Yale in 1827.

"Affliction, like the ironsmith, shapes as it smites."

Bovee, in his "Summaries of Thought," points out this use of adversity.

"Attack is reaction, I never think I hit hard unless it rebounds."

Success always draws criticism, Dr. Johnson says in "Boswell's Life."

"The fashion wears out more apparel than the man."

This fact, well known when Shakespeare wrote "Much Ado About Nothing," is just as true today.

"Who does think one thing and another tell,
My soul detests him like the gates of hell."

A liar merits the honest man's scorn, as Homer well says in "Iliad" as translated by Pope.

"Fair words gladden so many a heart."

Let everyone remember this line of Longfellow's in "Tales of a Wayside Inn," when he feels inclined to speak harshly of another.

Beattie in "The Minstrel" declares great souls have no fear of death.

"Teach me besides what love will do;
'Twill quickly mar or make ye, too."

Like everything else in this world, love may work good or evil, as Sir John Suckling observes in his poem, "Of Love."

My husband contends that I should have signed "[illegible] the sincere wish of Mildred W. and Jack W[illegible]."

Who is correct? MILDRED.

YOU are correct. The letter was a personal "thank you" and therefore should not be signed with your husband's name. Of course [illegible] was good form to [illegible] husband in the sentence just before the close of the letter. Say, for instance, something like this, "Jack and I are looking forward to seeing you and Bob just as soon as I get well." 3 MINUTE JOURNEYS

By Temple Manning

IT is a curious, but very noticeable fact that in China, when a girl is betrothed to a young man she does not see him until the day of the wedding. Her parents betroth her to a young man while she is still at a very tender age, and she must marry this man even though she has never seen him.

No consideration whatsoever is shown to her but she is obliged, by this cruel and unjust custom to marry someone she has never laid eyes on. If after the marriage, she does not like her husband, she is compelled to live with him until death separates them.

The husband is treated like a king. His wife does all of the heavy work while he sits around the house and idles his time away.

On the day of the marriage, the child wife is borne slowly down the streets in a litter, carried on the shoulders of the bearers and attendants, on her way to her husband's home. The litter in which she sits is tightly closed, and the families of both bride and bridegroom form a procession behind it.

The wedding gifts are carried by bearers. The financial standing of the bride's family or the nature of the alliance she is making is indicated by the value of the various gifts.

Truly, the life of a child wife in China is hard. Her cup of bitterness may be said to be overflowing.

The Helping Hand

Lots of Sickness

Helping Hand Editor:

I wonder if any of the readers of the Helping Hand has any pieces of cloth that would do to cover quilts. I am trying to cover two quilts for Winter. We have had lots of sickness. My husband has been sick for four years and I have rheumatism in my limbs. I can hardly get up out of my chair. It is very hard for us to get along. I cane chairs to bring in a dollar, so if any reader has any pieces of clothes, I will certainly appreciate it.

MRS. M. S.

Mother of Seven

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a mother of seven children and need clothing very badly. My husband does not work. My children's ages are girls, 14, 10, 6, 4, 1; boys, 12 and 8. I need some dresses myself, size 44. Please don't overlook my appeal. MRS. M. C.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Mahoney

Boston Health Commissioner

ASTHMA baffled the doctors for years. Meanwhile the sufferers continued to endure the agonies of the disease.

Dr. Mahoney.

Some persons have a remarkable sensitiveness to certain substances. It is now believed that asthma is produced by the inhalation of one of many such substances.

Every asthma patient must be studied as an individual. What will help one is useless for another.

The first thing is to find the exciting cause. What are some of the causes?

Rabbit's hair is one.

The hair of Australian rabbits is a common filling for pillows. Likewise rabbit fur is dyed and used in making neckpieces.

It is not uncommon to find a person who is never free from asthma in one house and never has it when he visits the home of a relative. This might be accounted for by the presence and use of rabbit hair pillows in one house and feather pillows in the other.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Am five feet six inches tall and 18 years of age. What should be my correct weight? B. C. D.

About [illegible] pounds.

What is a fallen stomach? How serious is it? Can it be cured? P. A. Y., Brockton.

The so-called "dropped" stomach is one that through loss of muscular tone has sagged from its true anatomical position. It may not be very serious, but is very uncomfortable, as it does not empty in a normal length of time and the contents are apt to become fermented, causing considerable gastric distress. The generally advised treatment for this trouble is a course of exercises designed to strengthen the muscles of the abdomen.

Kindly advise me as to reliability of nose shapers. E. W., Beachmont.

I would advise you to proceed with caution in the use of these beautifiers. The best procedure is to obtain the advice of your family physician.

I have difficulty in my speech, particularly when I try to pronounce "s". Please suggest a remedy. J. D., Beachmont.

Try taking a full breath before you attempt to pronounce any word beginning with letter "s."

MEDBURY SAYS—

By John P. Medbury.

THE cost of transportation is getting so high that it won't be long before people will be traveling around the country on dynamite.

A STICK of T N T isn't very expensive and it will take you almost any place you want to go.

A BIG piece of this stuff can carry fifteen or twenty passengers at one time.

OF course they wouldn't be able to enjoy any stop-over privileges.

BUT it would only cost about thirty cents to be blown from Chicago to Kokomo, Indiana.

YOU wouldn't have to wire your friends that you were coming. They'd hear the explosion and then go out and open the front door.

THE bad feature of this kind of traveling would be that if you didn't use the right amount of powder you might get blown five or ten miles past the place where you wanted to go.

Brain Teasers

A shepherd, asked how many sheep were in his flock, said he could not say. If he counted them by twos, threes, fours, fives or sixes, there was always one over. If he counted them by sevens, there was none over. What is the smallest number answering these conditions?

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

Will J. P. Morgan & Company or Kuhn, Loeb & Company or Speyer & Company head the bankers' syndicate to float the German loan in this country?

Thomas W. Lamont of Morgan & Company told me in Paris at the end of August that his firm had received no invitation whatsoever to handle the offering. Mr. Lamont wanted me to emphasize that no terms had been even discussed up to that time. I gathered that he was anxious to dispel the widespread idea that the whole deal had been cut and dried. Mr. Lamont implied that it was up to Germany to offer satisfactory terms before his firm would become interested.

* * *

A little later I heard gossip that there might be keen competition among leading American international bankers for floating the loan here.

It was pointed out that Mortimer L. Schiff of Kuhn, Loeb & Company, had arrived on the scene, and that James Speyer, head of Speyer & Company, who have very influential affiliations in Germany, was also on the spot.

* * *

It is probably safe to assume, however, that all the leading banking firms and institutions in the United States will be included in the syndicate. The chances are, too, that Morgan & Company will head the list, seeing that Mr. Morgan has twice been called in to discuss the prospects for raising funds for Germany in this market. The issue here may exceed $100,000,000.

* * *

Secretary Mellon said to me in part:

"As an investor, I would have no hesitation in buying the new German bonds. The issue will be unique. It is not only a first lien on Germany's custom receipts and other revenue, but is a first mortgage on Germany's resources. Compared with the amount of security behind it, the loan is extremely small. Not only so, but all the parties to the Dawes agreement will be interested in seeing that the terms of the loan are fully carried out."

* * *

"I hear that the rate will be 8 per cent," I remarked interrogatively.

* * *

"The rate will be generous," Mr. Mellon replied.

* * *

The amount of American money loaned to European governments is expected to be exceeded by loans to strong enterprises in various European countries, particularly in Germany. The opportunities for what might be called "speculative investments" in Germany are described as extraordinarily attractive. Austria, too, is recovering encouragingly. In Europe one hears a lot about the progress made by Czecho-Slovakia.

* * *

Meanwhile, British bankers, one hears, have been very active in seizing financial opportunities in different European countries and in other parts of the world. British bankers are not afraid to take risks where the possibilities for great profits are good. They know intimately the conditions existing in every part of the world, for, the home outlet for capital being limited, they must needs turn to foreign fields for the employment of their funds.

American bankers, on the other hand, have always had abundant room for investing capital in our own country with its matchless resources, both developed and undeveloped. Now, however, that we [illegible] of the world's liquid [illegible] interest rates in New [illegible] far below those [illegible] other European [illegible] are anxious to [illegible] investments elsewhere.

WOOLEN IS OFF TO FRESH LOW SINCE 1919

In trading on the New York Stock Exchange, the failure or disinclination of operators on the long side to follow up the early advance, encouraged a resumption of bear selling by professional traders, which reached sufficient proportions to turn the whole list reactionary again around the end of the first hour.

Famous Players was singled out for attack and hammered down around 5 points, while U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, Gulf States Steel, Coca Cola, Mack Truck, U. S. Rubber, Congoleum and Chandler dropped 1½ to 2¾ points, the last named touching a new 1924 low on unfavorable dividend rumors.

The early gain in Baldwin, American Can, Dupont, American Sugar Refining and General Electric were converted into losses of a point or so.

American Woolen broke further to 54⅝, a new low since 1919.

Just before noon, spirited bidding developed for Lackawanna, which bounded up 5¼ points to 152*, a record high, and started the general list moving again to higher levels.

Call money opened at 2½ per cent. "Nickel Plate" set a record-breaking top, up over 4.

In trading on the Boston Stock Exchange, Waltham Watch pfd. lowered over a point, while Edison rose a point. Other changes were for fractions only.

NEW ENGLAND'S BUSINESS IS BETTER

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

The writer is told that R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Trade Review, in this week's issue, will say regarding conditions in Boston:

Production in New England is increasing, and current business continues to improve. Openings of the various woolen manufacturers have been received moderately well, and mills are increasing their output. There is a good volume of business in the wool market, and prices are firm; in several lines advances have been reported.

Worsted yarns are firm, and demand is good. Sweater yarns are exceptionally active, and there is considerable call for fine yarns for dress goods. Retailers are buying cotton goods more freely, but prices are declining.

Print cloths have been reduced from one-eighth to one-quarter of a cent a year. Ducks and automobile tire fabrics are moving slowly. Prices of burlaps are weaker, and cotton yarns are cheaper and more in demand. Knitting yarns have the chief call.

Carpet yarns are rather slow and manufacturers are not inclined to buy unless offered price concessions.

Hides are quiet, but prices are slowly increasing. Shoe manufacturers are much more active, but tanners are quiet, as they have more or less leather on hand, and imports are heavy. The chief activity is in patent leather.

Wholesale grocers report an increase in sales of 4.6 per cent. for July, 1924, over those for July, 1923.

Most of the electrical industries are now operating at full time, and output of hardware factories is increasing. Prices of fine papers are firm, as orders multiply, but newsprint continues weak.

Building permits for thirty-seven cities in Massachusetts in July amounted to $14,584,371, an increase of 4.1 per cent. over those of July, 1923. Residential building predominates.

Building lumber, brick and cement are in fair demand, with prices of the latter quite firm.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY BOND OFFER

The Dominion of Canada enters the Boston market for the second time this year with an offering of $26,000,000 30-year 4½ per cent. gold bonds for the account of the Canadian National Railways.

The offering group, which is headed by Dillon, Read & Co., comprises the same bankers as have sponsored previous issues of the Canadian National Railways.

The bonds are dated September 15 next and are due September 15, 1954. Offering price is 96 and interest, at which the investment yield is approximately 4¾ per cent. Provision is made for the payment of principal and interest either in U. S. gold in New York City at the Bank of Montreal, or in Canadian currency in Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa. Application will be made for listing on the New York Stock Exchange.

The system is a consolidation of the Canadian Northern Railway, the Grand Trunk, the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Transcontinental, and represents the largest railway system under single control in the world.

All of the capital stock of the Canadian National Railways is owned by the government of the Dominion of Canada, which guarantees by endorsement principal and interest on the present issue.

Inspected Used Car Bargains

and Insured

Every used car advertised on this page has undergone a rigid inspection. The Boston American employs expert mechanics to make these tests.

Only an INSPECTED car can receive the blue certificate of inspection. It is your protection and safeguard.

If you do not see the blue Certificate of Inspection on the windshield of the car you want to buy, ask the dealer to have an inspection made. Or, telephone the Boston American, Liberty 4000. No charge nor obligation.

Cars which pass our inspection are, of course, the good cars. Thus, the list below contains the pick of the USED CAR market, in Boston. All types of cars, at all prices, and all Inspected.

The Boston American will help you select a Used Car Bargain. Write for free pamphlet explaining the Used Car Plan in detail.

Salute World Fliers for Their Intrepid Spirit

The People of Boston Will Render Them All Honor on Return to American Soil

Boston holds the centre of the national stage today, for, barring accident, Uncle Sam's triumphant 'round-the-world fliers will land here before the sun goes down.

No urging is needed to cause the people of this city and this State to render them all honor on their return to American soil.

Their feat is of too spectacular a nature to go unhonored. Intrepidity and the will to win have not lost their appeal. Being first to perform a difficult feat is as sure a road to fame as it was in the days of Columbus and Magellan.

But it may not be a waste of space and time to point out the very practical benefits this world-encircling flight has given to humanity.

It was undertaken soberly and solemnly. It was the result of calm reflection, not an inspirational flash. In the same spirit it was carried out.

This circumaviation of the globe by dauntless men in heavier-than-air machines has demonstrated that the golden age of flying lies just ahead; not ten or twenty years from now.

Choosing their routes carefully, proceeding purposefully, they have done something more than "hang up a record" for posterity to wonder at, or forget.

They have shown that no part of this whirling sphere is inaccessible to science; that there is no place puny man may not go in the machines that are the product of his restless brain; their contribution to worthwhile knowledge is incalculable.

Experts say that with airdromes and other aids known to commercial aviation, the flight these dashing pioneers of the United States army made can be achieved in thirteen days. In future flights the information concerning topography and air currents collected by the army fliers will be invaluable.

In crying "Hail to the Conquerors," let us not forget Major Martin, the original flight commander, whose machine piled up on a mountain top in Alaska; nor Lieutenant Wade, pilot and skipper of the "Boston," wrecked on the flight from Kirkwall to Iceland.

Good losers, both, and worthy of being honored along with Lieutenants Smith and Nelson, the two who finished.

To the intrepid fliers of the army of the U. S. A., those who did finish, and those who tried:

Salute!

There Is Only One Way to Judge the Baby

Watch Him Grow Up. And Don't Let Anybody Persuade You That YOUR BABY Is Not a Genius

A reverend gentleman has formulated some rules for judging human babies. He had made a table of "good points," the total footing up one hundred. He counts ten points for the sense of smell, and the same number of points for each of the other senses—touch, taste, sight and hearing.

He allows ten points for evidences of physical health, ten points for looks, five for hair, five for teeth, and so on.

The reverend gentleman judges a baby by the way it pets a cat. And he forms an opinion of the baby's intelligence by its interest in a music box or a gold watch held up before it.

As a matter of fact, no outward sign is of any value in judging the possibilities of a young child.

If you see a baby petting a cat skilfully or unskilfully, [illegible] can form no opinion of the baby—although you may be [illegible] that the father and mother are foolish in these [illegible] know that a cat's fur is the carrier of the germs [illegible] other diseases, and should be kept far from a c[illegible]

The [illegible] says, "A perfect baby must be good-looking," and [illegible] that it must have a good disposition, a ready smile, g[illegible], and teeth that appear fairly early. It also must have a good digestion.

All of which things are pleasing; not one of them is essential. Many of the very best and most wonderful babies are weak, ill-tempered and feeble at the beginning of their lives, BECAUSE A BRAIN EXCESSIVELY DEVELOPED TAKES [illegible] THAN ITS SHARE OF THE CHILD'S BLOOD AND [illegible] THE REST OF THE BODY WEAK.

[illegible] genius and fighting man, Voltaire, is one of the be[illegible] what may come from an unpromising baby. A[illegible] Voltaire had fits, indigestion, weak legs, and his face [illegible] looked like a pale green, frostbitten, little, sour apple.

If the Abbe de Chateauneuf had not taken a wonderful interest in the baby and dipped him in hot water when he had fits, and regulated his diet, Voltaire would have died in infancy, the world would have lost one of its great fighting men, and the French Revolution might have been delayed.

Voltaire as a baby would probably not have scored twenty points out of the hundred in the reverend gentleman's list of points.

The reverend gentleman's ideas would be first rate in the judging of a bull pup or a prize kitten.

In a human baby everything of importance is hidden away under the thin hair in the funny little skull. You never can tell what is going on inside of that wonderful temple of the brain until infancy and childhood have passed and work has begun.

Don't waste your time and torment your children trying to take out of them that which is natural and that which time itself will eliminate.

Keep them healthy, keep them in the fresh air. Keep fresh air in their bedrooms at night.

SET THEM A GOOD EXAMPLE OF DIGNITY, HONESTY, TRUTH TELLING AND AFFECTION BETWEEN FATHER AND MOTHER.

Teach them to eat slowly if you possibly can.

Never strike a child—the man or woman unable to educate and develop a child through the power of the mind is unfit to have children in a civilized community.

Hope to the very last that your child will turn out to be a genius. And if he does not, remember that YOU did not either, and that after all he can only be what you and your ancestors made him.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

YOU'RE in love—

* * *

When you can look indifferently at your favorite salad—and think only of what a wonderful dinner He can order.

* * *

When you would rather sit at home and listen for his ring on the telephone than go to a roofgarden or grand opera with any other man.

* * *

Helen Rowland

When you can look straight into another man's eyes and pretend to listen to him for half an hour—while you mentally rehearse the one sentence HE let fall last night.

* * *

When you gaze at the new moon, and wonder only if He's looking at it, too—and with WHOM?

* * *

When you shut your eyes, in the midst of the most thrilling live scene in a movie play—and "wonder who's kissing Him now."

* * *

When your heart skips a beat every time you hear a footstep on the gravel or the tinkle of the telephone.

* * *

When you feel a faint electric tingle up and down your spine every time you hear the postman's whistle.

* * *

When you lie awake half the night over "what HE said," and "what YOU said," and wondering what he MEANT, and if he will mean it again tomorrow.

* * *

When you find yourself reading the same paragraph in an exciting novel for the fifth or sixth time.

When you begin to wish you had never let another man kiss you.

* * *

When you begin to think of him as a little boy, and long to run your fingers through his hair and "mother" him.

* * *

When you moon alone for hours in the porch swing—and act injured if anybody "interrupts" you, or tries to "cheer you up."

* * *

When you think you'd rather be miserable with HIM than happy with the Prince of Wales.

* * *

When you are desperately dejected and ecstatically happy, sublimely sweet and petulantly unreasonable, wildly mirthful and stupidly dumb, angelic and diabolic—all in the same day!

* * *

Then, oh then, you're in love!

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

MARCHING on, marching on, every face toward the dawn, with no pauses for fear or regret; through the dust and the heat, through the tempest and sleet towards the hilltops our footsteps are set. With no banners to bear, with no trumpets' loud blare, with no watchers to praise as we go, still we march on our way through the night, through the day, through the dusk and the starlight's soft glow. Though the way may be long, marching on with a song go the dauntless who keep in the van; shoulders back, eyes ahead, with a swift, steady tread, marching ever, the great caravan. Though through darkness we grope there is faith, there is hope, every one in this company knows night's grim shadows will fly and the great arch of sky will bloom out like the heart of a rose. Marching on, marching on, king and knight, bishop, pawn, marching on in their varied array; with no drums' stirring note, with no proud flags to float, yet with carriage courageous and gay. For the whole world has gone up this road to the dawn, through the noontide and starlight and dew; past old failures and ills climbing up to the hills through fair vistas and scenes ever new. Marching on, marching on through the centuries gone brave men went as the brave go today; marching on through the gloom up to dawn and its bloom press the ranks in their motley array.

THE HELPING HAND

Letters Not Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls or Anonymous Letters. No Names Published.

Widow of 18

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a young widow of 18 and have a baby boy and as I have no one to help me and must go to work as I have a lot of bills to pay, I am asking if one of your kind readers who has no children would take my baby until I get on my feet. He is a good baby, has red curly hair and brown eyes, is walking and has all his teeth cut, so he is no trouble. I don't want anyone to adopt him, just keep him until I get things straightened out, then I will take him home with me. Also if anyone has a Winter hat, black dress and cape, they don't have anymore use for, I would be glad to get them and some clothes for the baby. I take size 38 or 40, shoe 4 or 4½. Baby is 14 months old.

MRS. D. W.

Offers Couch Hammock

Helping Hand Editor:

I will be glad to give to any cripple or invalid, boy or girl, a good couch hammock if they will send for it. I wish it taken away as soon as possible.

C. L. G.

Many thanks Mr. G. The editor will be glad to supply your name to anyone who wishes it.

Man Out of Work

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a man 49 years of age, not a drinking man, trying hard to make both ends meet. My line of work just now is at a standstill. Last week I earned $6.40. I owe my landlord from August 2 at $5 a week. God knows my meaning is good. I try hard to work. I do choreman's work and will guarantee cleanliness wherever I work. I don't want charity; all I want is some work. I can wax floors, paint, etc., and can give good references.

W. M. E.

Offers Load of Wood

Helping Hand Editor:

I have a load of wood which someone in need can have by sending for it.

Woman Needs Work

Helping Hand Editor:

May I call on you once again, this time in search of night work of any nature, store work, sweeping and dusting, clerical or almost anything I can turn to. My husband having been on three days' work a week, we got behind in our debts and one firm threatens to attach his pay. I dare not think what we'll face then with four little ones to care for. If I could secure evening work, whatever I'd make, I could put toward these debts and save my husband's job.

MRS. C. R. S.

Money for Mothers

Helping Hand Editor:

Please use this money where you think it will be needed the most, for a young child or an expected child. A FRIEND.

Many thanks kind friend. I am sending this money to two expectant mothers—greatly in need of aid.

DISEASE TRACED TO DEVITALIZED FOOD

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE campaign for bread made of the whole grain of the wheat is not only rampant in America but in Europe.

The efforts of millers to please the eye by whitening the flour, and to do so by extracting all things that interfere with its perfect color, have resulted in taking away from the flour those elements of the grain which are necessary for the sustenance of the human body.

A book, recently published in England, holds that cancer, which is increasingly prevalent in civilization, is due to devitalized food and that the best cure for this mysterious and horrible disease is the preventative influence of whole wheat or whole meal bread. Doctors are not yet agreed upon that to which the germ of cancer is due, but it is the general impression that it must be due to malnutrition of some sort, at least that malnutrition furnishes it a favorable soil on which to work.

Another terrible disease is that of blood poisoning, such as took off the son of President Coolidge. It is averred, in some circles, that blood poisoning only attacks those whose vitality is weakened by undernourishment and that the continuous use of devitalized products is favorable to blood poisoning.

Whatever conclusion we may reach as to the influences which react favorably to these two diseases it cannot be doubted that the continued use of devitalized flour is not beneficial to the race. We have seen considerable instances recently of attempts to popularize whole wheat flour and the products of the same. Wheat is the natural food of the human body and probably more people live upon the products of wheat than upon any other one thing except those of rice.

It is established that devitalized rice, or polished rice, brings on the disease known as beri-beri.

It is also well-known that the disease of pellagra is caused by the eating of food products made of devitalized corn flour.

Just what nourishes the human body is among the secrets of that mysterious science known as organic chemistry, but there are considerable grounds for believing that the use of whole wheat flour, or the use of the whole grain in some way, is beneficial and that the use of devitalized flour, or flour made white in the endeavor to make it pretty, is responsible for diseases of more than one kind.

In the interest of good health, therefore, the use of whole wheat flour should be encouraged.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON LURE OF INVISIBLES

By Garrett P. Serviss

A LADY in Pennsylvania, "the busy mother of five little ones, but never too busy to stop and admire and study nature's many wonders," writes that she has become very much interested in the heavens since learning that the stars have names and histories.

All by herself she found Venus and Mars, and "was as pleased as a baby with a new rattle. My children, now at a tender age," she continues, "can say: 'That is Arcturus and this is Vega.' And yet I did not know this until now! Why is it not taught in the schools?

Peep at Saturn

"I would give quite a few years of my life to have a peep at Saturn and the invisibles; and this longing has given birth to the idea of how nice it would be if one could go to a nearby city and for a reasonable sum of money satisfy the longing to see the planets and stars through telescopes. The money would go for the furtherance of science. Would this be practicable; for are there not others just as curious as I am?"

Would that it were practicable! The call for it is insistent enough, and admirable enough, to deserve a favorable answer. Already there are a few observatories at which some provision is made for meeting the popular desire to see a little of what the astronomers behold with their telescopes. But astronomers are busy with the technical aspects of their science, while the telescope is an elite instrument, which requires considerable preliminary discipline on the part of those for whom it opens the door to its wonders.

Let me offer a compromise idea. Instead of putting a large telescope at the service of the untrained public in a few centres, I would have many of moderate size, distributed as widely as possible—say as widely as schoolhouses and churches; one in every village.

In some cases, perhaps, the town fathers might be induced to buy a small telescope and put up a popular observatory for the common use of those of their fellow-citizens who had heads for the stars.

But in most cases, I think, the best way would be to organize a local astronomical society which by a small assesment upon its members could easily provide the needed instruments and building. An astounding amount of interest would be developed by a well-conducted association of this kind. All the inhabitants would feel its elevating influence.

It is a common mistake to assume that a large telescope is indispensable for seeing celestial objects. In truth, quite a small instrument answers, well the needs of the amateur, and many important discoveries have been made with telescopes ranging from three, four, or five up to eight or ten inches in aperture, i.e., diameter of lens or mirror.

Magnificent views of the moon, and of Jupiter, Saturn, Mars, Venus, etc., are afforded by instruments magnifying only one or two hundred diameters. The marvels of the Milky Way star assemblages, like those around Sagittarius, and the beauty of the colored double stars, like Albireo and Cor Caroli, can be seen with very moderate instrumental aid.

Temple of Science

An observatory is a temple of science. It is dedicated to what my correspondent has most happily called "the invisibles." The search after the invisible is the mainspring of human progress, when it has no other aim than satisfaction of the desire to know, to grow in knowledge, to live a higher life here on earth—which is the case in astronomy—it lifts up a whole community.

Let every village have its Parthenon of science, in which the presiding deity is Urania. Let it stand, if possible, on an elevation, easily accessible to all, and visible from round about. Its dome will be as significant as a church spire.

Once-Overs

LOOK UPON MOTOR CAR DRIVING AS A GAME REQUIRING SKILL AND ALERTNESS

What good does it do for you to become angry and cuss the automobile drivers who do foolish things that cause you to snap on the emergency brake or pull to one side or the other suddenly.

It is an easy matter nowadays to spoil any drive you take from a cause of this sort and that does not stop the reckless drivers, either.

You are all stirred up and you make it so uncomfortable for the family that they are getting so that they do not like to go with you as much as formerly.

You are not getting much pleasure either with your heart thumping like a trip-hammer and to no purpose.

There will be fool drivers as long as there are automobiles, and the number will increase each year, as more cars are sold.

Conditions will never be better to enjoy yourself so you might as well get all the fun out of it that you can since you cannot make over the ones you meet.

In any case, you take a lot of chances yourself if you have not reached the stage where you plan to drive sanely, which is not at full speed.

Just look upon driving as a game where you have to use skill and unusual alertness to drive safely, and then be thankful that you can keep your head.

And if you have no place to go, what's your hurry?
